

ORA WHITTLE GETS SECOND LIFE SENTENCE

First Man Given Life Term for Langston Murder Receives Like Sentence at Fairburn.

M'ELREATH JURY OUT FIVE HOURS

For Second Time in Year Whittle Hears Sentence of Life Pronounced Upon Himself.

Fairburn, Ga., April 2.—(Special.) For the second time within the last 10 months, Ora Whittle today stood before the judgment seat of superior court and heard the sentence of life imprisonment pronounced upon himself.

The jury trying Whittle here this week on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Homer McElreath, former Fulton county convict guard and taxi driver, whose body was found in October, 1922, in a sawdust pile in the Ben Hill section, late today returned a verdict of guilty and recommended life imprisonment. The jury deliberated about five hours. Sentence was immediately passed upon Whittle by Judge John B. Hutcheson, before whom the case was tried.

The verdict, read by C. L. Jeanes, foreman, was as follows: "We, the jury, find the defendant, Ora Whittle, guilty, and recommend that he be sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary."

Whittle last July was convicted of murder in connection with the slaying in 1922 of James P. Langston, Fayette county mail carrier, and was sentenced to life imprisonment. He was serving his term at the state farm when he was indicted for the murder of Langston.

It was announced here today that George Waller, also indicted for murder in the McElreath case, will be placed on trial here next week and that Charles Huggins and Claude Martin, indicted jointly with Whittle and Waller, will be tried following the Waller trial.

The Whittle case was tried before Judge John B. Hutcheson in Campbell county superior court, the state being represented by Solicitor General Claude C. Smith and Lawrence Camp. T. K. Burns, Leon S. Tomlinson and William Schley Howard were among the defense attorneys.

MORGENTHAU SEES ATTEMPT TO CAUSE U. S.-JAPAN WAR

Honolulu, April 2.—(AP)—Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, arrived here today after studying the governments of India and the Philippine Islands. He asserted outside nations were attempting to create ill will between Japan and the United States, adding "Japan does not want war, it's us."

Mr. Morgenthau expressed the opinion that the Philippines are not ready for independence. Another big war, he said, is inevitable unless the world exercises statesmanship.

Good Food Means Good Health

The process of eating may be likened to firing a furnace. Use high-grade coal and fine heat results; use poor coal and you get little heat and much trouble. Our food builds our bodies. If we eat only the best it means health, so it follows that the purchasing of food for a family is very important. Fortunately Atlanta has the best groceries, markets and produce houses in the country. The prices quoted are the latest for today's business, and you may rely on the quality. BREAK REPORTED BETWEEN DAVIS AND PRESIDENT

White House Bars Secretary of War From Making Trip to Philippines Next Fall.

THOMPSON CHOSEN TO MAKE REPORT

National Commander of Spanish War Veterans Appointed To Make Economic Inspection.

Washington, April 2.—Conflicting statements from the white house and war department regarding the proposed visit of Secretary of War Davis to the Philippines and the appointment by the president of Carmi A. Thompson to make an economic inspection of the Pacific islands have given rise to reports of a difference between Coolidge and Davis.

Shortly after the secretary of war announced that he would make an inspection trip of the Philippines next fall, the white house spokesman said that Davis' duties here would prevent such a long trip.

Thompson, of Cleveland, national commander of the Spanish War Veterans, it was said at the white house, would make a complete inspection of the economic possibilities of the Philippines and perhaps Hawaii and Guam.

It was denied that the trip had political significance, but that the purpose was to obtain more complete data on economic, financial and educational conditions on the islands.

The president was said to feel that the Philippines were not yet yielding sufficient sugar, rubber and minerals. Thompson will be unable to participate in the Ohio political campaign as he will be gone from January 1 until November. He was republican candidate for governor four years ago but has retired from active participation this year.

MEN OF GERMANY OBJECT TO SHORT SKIRTS ON WOMEN

Berlin, April 2.—German men generally disapprove of the extremely short skirts now worn by their fairer compatriots. Skirts ought to be at least two inches longer. This is the viewpoint of the majority of people who have responded to an inquiry into the subject made by a leading Berlin newspaper. A surprising number of men demanded that knees should not be exposed.

Except a few, who couldn't get their short enough, they stated almost to a man that skirts now displayed too many fat knees, "colossal" calves and legs which failed to taper toward the ankles.

These shortcomings, they claimed, could be overcome—or at least subdued—by a few additional inches of garment.

Another peculiarity of modern dresses which does not find approval of the newspaper readers is the nude back, which beauties are now expected to display according to the fashion.

The viewpoint on styles is all the more surprising in a country where a couple of beads go a long way toward dressing most chorus girls.

St. Marys Transport Tied Up Six Hours When Georgia Officials Bar Florida Truck.

VERSIONS OF ROW ARE DIFFERENT

Violence Threatened by Waiting Hundreds—Race Horses of Candler Reported Barred.

Brunswick, Ga., April 2.—(Special.) What promised for a time to become a nice legal problem for the United States supreme court to exercise its august wisdom over, late this afternoon solved itself without resort to the courts, when a Florida truck driver is reported to have backed his wheeled machine off a St. Marys river ferry at Kingsland, near this city, and made it possible for several hundred indignant stranded tourists to proceed on their respective ways after six hours of nerve-racking delay.

The difficulty, which had its inception in the tempestuous fight Georgia has waged to rid itself of the cattle fever tick, arose when the Florida truck, containing excelsior, boarded the ferry several miles from this city preparatory to crossing to the Georgia side of the river.

The placid St. Marys, as is well known, is to Georgia and Florida what the Rio Grande is to the United States and Mexico. Consequently, when J. W. Taylor, cattle tick inspector of the Georgia veterinarian's department, halted the ferry on the Georgia bank and barred the truck and its load, believed to be infested with ticks, the ferry was forced to return to the Florida side of the river.

Driver Refuses to Move All would have been well and the throng of tourists motoring to and from Florida would have experienced no inconveniences had not the driver of the Florida truck been a person of strong convictions regarding his personal rights and the honor of his home state. In high indignation over what he considered an affront to both, he calmly declined to back off the ferry and efface himself and his objectionable cargo amid the highly pressurized tropical scenery of his native state. All this is according to news reports from Brunswick, Ga.

Whether the operator of the ferry was also a large subject of Florida or whether he simply didn't care which side won is unknown, but the fact remains—the Brunswick reports said—that he and the truck driver, who was carrying a load of tobacco juice, darkening the sparkling waters of the historic St. Marys with a fraternal mingling of tobacco juice.

Meanwhile, Florida's version of the row differed greatly from that of Georgia, as is shown by news dispatches from Jacksonville. These reports to the effect that the truck was in reality a motor passenger bus and that it was held up when officials discovered it was a box, said to be 12 by 14 inches in size, containing radio parts, which was found also to contain excelsior.

The Florida report also said that the "bus" was seized along with the box containing contraband straw and that later it was released by Thomas Casey, chairman, and Wallace Lang, of the Camden county (Georgia) board of commissioners. The two solved the problem, the dispatches said, by returning the box to the Florida side and allowing the bus to proceed into Georgia. In listing the calamitous results of the interstate entanglement, the Jacksonville news

JURY DEADLOCKED IN DAVIS TRIAL

Ex-Governor of Kansas and Son Tried on Charge of Accepting Bribe for Pardon.

Topeka, Kans., April 2.—(AP)—Deadlocked nearly seven hours, the jury trying ex-Governor Jonathan M. Davis and Russell Davis, his son, on a charge of accepting a bribe for a pardon, was put to bed at 10:30 o'clock tonight.

Deliberations will be resumed tomorrow morning. The jury will not be permitted to delay over the week-end, since a new term of court opens Monday and District Judge Otis E. Hunsateer does not wish to complicate the trial with a continuance into the next term.

Under instructions delivered by Judge Otis E. Hunsateer, the case hinges on whether a conspiracy existed between the former governor and his son to sell the pardon to Pollman.

H. Nelson Hickman and Samuel L. Cutler Will Testify To Save Bandit From Gallows.

JUDGE JENNINGS HEARS PLEA TODAY

Attorneys Also Basing Hopes for New Trial on Alleged Statement by Chapman Juror.

Hartford, Conn., April 2.—(AP)—The identities of two witnesses whose testimony, it is hoped, will influence Judge Newell Jennings, trial judge of the Gerald Chapman murder case, to grant the condemned bandit a new trial tomorrow were revealed tonight. They are H. Nelson Hickman, of New York city, and Samuel L. Cutler, a Hartford automobile salesman.

Hickman, in an affidavit, asserts that he knew Chapman in New York and that he saw him there on the night of October 11, 1924, which was the night before Patrolman James Skelly, for whose murder Chapman must hang next Monday night, was killed.

Cutler, who is the proprietor of the Cutler Automobile Parts company, said he saw the automobile, which later came to be known as the death car in front of his place of business on the afternoon of October 11. He recognized as the driver Walter S. Sheen, of Springfield, Mass., who was afterward convicted as Chapman's accomplice, when he turned state's evidence. The man who was with him was not Chapman, Cutler swears.

The defense attorneys had not been able tonight to find any witnesses who would corroborate the affidavit sworn to by Harry C. Peck, of Canton, Conn.

Peck swore he heard Walter S. Case, of Canton Centre, remark before the Chapman murder trial that he would like to get on the jury and help hang Chapman. Case afterwards became one of the jurors.

CHIEF ARRESTED; BRIBERY CHARGED

Miami, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—Police Chief Paul C. Latham, of Hialeah, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Tom Powers in that municipality near here today on warrants charging bribery. He was released on bond of $5,000.

An information bill charging Latham with the receipt of a bribe in the form of a $755 self-operating refrigerator, on which the warrant was based, was filed yesterday by Solicitor R. R. Taylor, Jr.

Chapman Caught and Freed Without Being Recognized

POLICE HELD MUCH-WANTED MAN IN 1922

BY JULIA HARMAN. (Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution and The New York Daily News.) New York, April 2.—The notorious Gerald Chapman, passing as an oil millionaire, and "Dutch" Anderson, acting as Chapman's secretary, were in the hands of the New York police in 1922 when they were being sought all over the world for the $100,000 Leonard street mail robbery here and other crimes, and were freed without being recognized, it was learned here today.

They were picked up by a raiding squad of New York detectives in a private gambling house. Chapman talked—or bribed—his way out of custody without being booked, and Anderson, booked under one of his best known aliases, was freed, together with the other patrons taken in the raid, by a police magistrate who upbraided the arresting officers for invading a social club.

Every New York newspaper carried the story of the raid and Anderson's alias, William LaFarge, over which name a half-profile picture of Anderson appeared in The Daily News the morning following the arraignment and dismissal of the gambling house raid victims. From this published courtroom snapshot LaFarge might easily have been recognized as Anderson of whom strikingly similar pictures of the fugitive were even then in the hands of thousands of police departments in this country and abroad, and of department of justice agents, Pinkerton men and American Railway Express company operatives.

DRASTIC ENFORCEMENT PLAN FOR PROHIBITION STATE URGED BY ADMINISTRATION

W. & A. DISCOUNT BID OF ATLANTA FIRM ACCEPTED

Offer of 4.735 Made by Citizens and Southern Company Accepted by Governor.

PENSION MONEY SOON AVAILABLE

Only Two Offers Made For Rentals, Discount of Which Legislature Recently Voted.

Bid of the Citizens and Southern company at 4.735 per cent for discounting Western and Atlantic railroad rentals for a period of eight years in order to provide funds for payment of overdue Confederate pensions, was accepted by Governor Clifford Walker, Friday afternoon.

This bid will supply a net sum of $3,161,700, which is expected to be sufficient to meet all past due pension payments. The amount needed has been estimated at approximately $3,200,000, but this figure, it is understood, was a maximum estimate and it is expected that the actual amount needed will be found to be less.

Two bids were presented for discounting the warrants. The Citizens and Southern company made its original bid 4.90 per cent, and a group of investment houses, including the Robinson-Humphrey company, the Trust company of Georgia, Lehman Brothers of New York, Kountze Brothers and W. A. Harriman and company, of New York, offered to buy the warrants at 4.735 conditional upon approval of the legality of the transaction by New York counsel of the bankers.

The offer of the Citizens and Southern company was unconditional, and when it later reduced its bid to the same figure as that offered by the rival bidders, the governor accepted it.

The bid is much lower than that made by W. & A. rentals were discounted in 1921. It was pointed out that at that time was 5.95, and the governor felt a highly satisfactory contract was made.

The W. & A. rentals gross $540,000 per year, making the gross returns for the eight-year period $4,320,000. At a discount rate of 4.735, this leaves the immediate net value to the state $3,161,700.

Discounting of the warrants is provided for in the Culpepper bill, passed by the legislature in extra session and immediately signed by the governor.

The work of getting out checks to county ordinaries so that pensioners may receive payment due them will begin in the next week will begin at once.

Chapman, in his big act, met Anderson emerging from court after the gamblers were freed, and drove off with his "secretary."

Pellogia knew Chapman and his dark-eyed girl companion of those days as "Mr. and Mrs. Colwell" and Anderson as "LaFarge." He knew Mrs. Colwell as "Betty," believed now to be the mysterious "Betty Beeswax" who figured in the bandit's later life. Colwell posed, according to Pellogia, as a Texas oil millionaire.

The gambling house proprietor met the trio first when all four were living in an apartment hotel just off Riverside drive. Colwell, he said, had very fine manners, and spent money freely, often $500 or more in a night. He presented Betty with many fine jewels, once five unset diamonds, each of 2 or 3 carats, according to Pellogia.

Drink Proves Costly. His secretary, Pellogia said, gave Colwell much trouble because of his tendency to drink to excess. "I have lost no less than $100,000 through his stupidity," Colwell once said of LaFarge, according to Pellogia. Both men, the owner of the gambling house declared, had guns the night the place was raided. Neither showed nervousness, he said, and Colwell assured LaFarge there was "nothing to worry about—we'll both be out in the morning."

$36,250,000 Is Left in Will To Charity and Philanthropy

TESTATOR WAS WIFE OF ROCKEFELLER PARTNER

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Specific bequests to organizations totaling $36,250,000 are made in the will of Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness, wife of one of the earliest partners of John D. Rockefeller, in her will filed for probate today. She died March 27. Bequests totaling $20,000,000 are estimated to have been anticipated by gifts made during her lifetime and other bequests totaling $2,250,000 have been partly anticipated. The will provided that all bequests should be reduced by gifts made during her life and subsequent to January 1, 1920.

Anticipated By Gifts. The following bequests were anticipated by gifts: The commonwealth fund, $20,000,000; the Presbyterian Hospital in the City of New York, $1,500,000; Yale university, $3,000,000; the Metropolitan Museum of Art, $1,000,000; the New York public library, $1,000,000; the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, $250,000; Elmer hospital, $25,000.

The following bequests have been partly anticipated by gifts: The church extension committee of the Presbytery of New York, $1,000,000; the Hampton Normal and Agricultural institute, $750,000; the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial institute, $500,000.

The will states that Mrs. Harkness had arranged for the construction of a series of dormitories at Yale university in memory of her son, Charles V. Harkness. They were completed before her death.

ACTION ON BILLS TO ALTER TOBACCO TAX ACT DELAYED

Dealers To Be Asked To Express Views on Proposal for Compulsory Registration.

Committee action on two bills designed to strengthen enforcement of the state stamp tax on cigars and cigarettes Friday afternoon was postponed at a meeting of the house committee on ways and means.

One bill, providing that when cigarettes are sold by carton the stamps must be affixed to individual packages instead of to the outside of the carton, was referred to a subcommittee for perfecting when belief was expressed that the bill as drawn would not achieve the object desired.

The other measure, which provides for registration with county ordinances of wholesale and retail dealers in cigars and cigarettes, was deferred for consideration until Monday, when dealers and others will be invited before the committee to express their views on the matter.

The house of representatives adjourned Friday to meet again Monday morning. Passage of one or two minor bills and a clash as to procedure between supporters and opponents of the road bond measure featured the day's session.

12,500 ATTEND BIG HOME SHOW

Nine "Home Beautiful" Exhibits Will Remain Open to Public Through Sunday Night.

12,500 People Inspect Nine "Homes Beautiful"

Attendance figures at the nine units of the "Home Beautiful" exhibit Friday follow: Avondale Estates, 5,500; 176 Lullwater Road (Druid Hills), 2,300; 44 Wakefield Drive (Brook-Hills), 1,900; 215 Bolling Road (Garden Hills), 1,600; 118 Sherwood Drive (Morningside), 1,200.

The senate then passed, 26 to 15, a bill by Senators Carswell, Hughes and Dixon authorizing counties to assign their one-cent gasoline tax to the state highway board for road-building purposes. Some counties now follow this practice after they have received their gasoline tax checks from the state treasurer, but under the new bill they could direct the treasurer to turn the fund over to the highway department directly.

PROPOSED PLAN WOULD PUT TEETH IN VOLSTEAD LAW

Proposals Are So Sweeping That Bitter Debate Is Inevitable When Question Comes Up.

CHANGE IN SEARCH RULING ASKED

Compulsory Prison Sentences for Bootleggers Dealing in Poisonous Liquor Is Also Proposed.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER. Washington, April 2. Without waiting for the evidence in the senate beer hearings which start next Monday, the administration has presented to congress the most drastic program of prohibition enforcement legislation that has been submitted since the Volstead act.

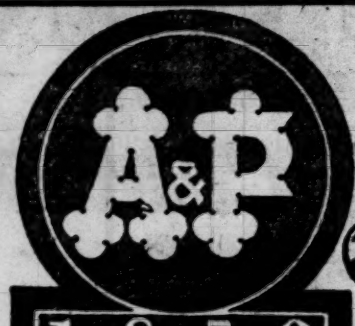

These proposals are so sweeping that bitter debate is inevitable when they come up for consideration. The administration asks for authority to search private homes; for summary authority to confiscate any automobile or other conveyance found with liquor aboard without waiting for a conviction in court; for government supervision of all cereal beverage plants, and for a new scale of extra heavy penalties and compulsory prison sentences for bootleggers who deal in poisonous liquor or redistilled denatured alcohol.

This program was embodied in a bill introduced in the senate Friday by Goff, West Virginia, republican. The bill was drafted by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, who forwarded a letter declaring: "Our experience in enforcing the national prohibition laws convinces us that certain changes and additions are quite essential to success."

FOOD AND DRUG
ACT IS SOUGHT
IN ALCOHOL SUIT

Minneapolis, Minn., April 2.—(AP)—Use of the federal pure food and drug act in the enforcement of prohibition was sought by government attorneys today with the filing of a suit in federal court to libel 15,000 cases of body rub alcohol shipped to a St. Paul concern.

The action to have the liquid declared illicit was commenced under three sections of the pure food and drug act after two attempts to hold it under provisions of the national prohibition act had failed.

Federal Judge John B. Sanborn recently ordered the body-rub returned to a manufacturing company in St. Paul when the government could establish no case under the prohibition act for its seizure.

Resort to the pure food and drug act was ordered by Andrew J. Vostand, legal adviser to the northwest prohibition director and father of the prohibition enforcement act.

BETA THETA PI HEAD TO SPEAK AT TECH

Dr. F. W. Shepherdson, of the University of Ohio, arrived in Atlanta last night and will be the guest of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity of Georgia Tech. A dinner was given in his honor Friday night at the Henry Grady hotel by the Tech chapter of this fraternity. Tonight Dr. Shepherdson will deliver an address before the Inter-Fraternity society of Georgia Tech.

Dr. Shepherdson is president of the national fraternity of Beta Theta Pi and also vice president of Phi Beta Kappa, the national honorary fraternity. He is making a trip to all the colleges and universities where there are chapters of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Cornelia Peaches Safe.

Cornelia, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—Although the cold weather reached 29 degrees here Thursday morning, it is thought that peaches are not injured as a result. Today is warmer and it is hoped that all danger to the peach crop from cold is over for this season.

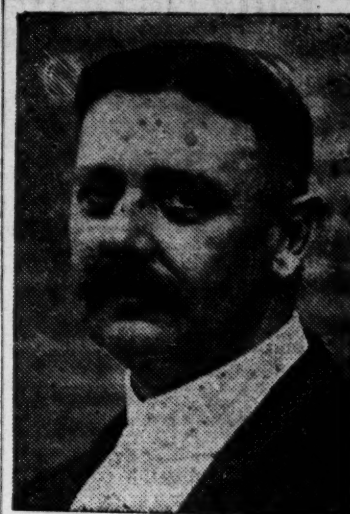

Knights of Pythias Plan To Organize Southeast

Organization of a southeastern division of grand lodge officers of the Knights of Pythias is expected to be completed at business sessions today of grand chancellors and grand keepers of records and seals of the order, the meetings to be held at the Ansley hotel.

The two-day session is being attended by representatives and officers of the Knights of Pythias from the southeast for the purpose of organizing a southeastern division. Friday's meetings were devoted largely to reception features.

Governor Clifford Walker, past grand chancellor of Georgia, and Mayor Walter A. Sims gave the addresses of welcome at the opening meeting Friday in behalf of the city and state, and George P. Eubanks, past imperial prince of the Khorassans, welcomed the knights in behalf of the imperial palace. Other addresses were given by L. P. Lazenby, of Kibla temple, No. 123; L. C. Greer, grand outer guard of the Pythians of Atlanta, and Will G. Moore, grand chancellor of the grand lodge of Georgia.

Responses were made by Ernest Allen, Aiken, S. C., grand chancellor of South Carolina; C. D. Brown, of

J. O. SIPPLE.

Abbeville, S. C., grand keeper of records and seals of South Carolina; S. L. Johnson, of Anniston, Ala., past grand chancellor; Harwell Davis, of Montgomery, Ala., grand vice chancellor; George L. Lovell, of Charlotte, N. C., grand keeper of records and seals; Richard L. Meares, of Charlotte, N. C., grand chancellor; Carl Mee, of Rockwood, Tenn., grand chancellor, and R. L. Spackman, of Tampa, Fla., grand chancellor.

Others attending the convention include: Miller S. Bell, Millidgeville, Ga., supreme representative; Newman Laster, of Atlanta, president of state association of Khorassan temples and publicity director; James W. Austin, of Atlanta, P. G. C.; Frank A. Hooper, Sr., P. G. C.; H. M. Stanley, P. G. C.; Judge Jesse M. Wood, P. G. C.; Jule Seiple, of Savannah, grand vice chancellor; William H. Leopold, Savannah, grand keeper of records and seals; James L. Moore, chancellor commander Uniform lodge, Atlanta, and B. L. Owens, keeper of records and seal.

Luncheon was served at noon at the Henry Grady hotel. The executive session was held at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon after which a recess was taken for an automobile ride over the city.

A banquet was given at 7 o'clock at the Ansley hotel.

Representatives from various states reported that great progress is being made in the Lythian order and this gathering of grand chancellors and grand keepers of records and seals from the southeastern states marks the first time in the history of the order that such a step has been taken. The meeting was arranged by Will G. Moore, grand chancellor of Georgia.

Citizens & Southern Declares Its Usual Quarterly Dividend

Directors of the Citizens & Southern bank have paid to stockholders a quarterly dividend of three per cent on capital stock of three million dollars, or a total of $90,000, and the Citizens & Southern company, the bond department and subsidiary of the Citizens & Southern bank, paid a quarterly dividend of three per cent, or $9,000, which makes a total of $99,000 received for the quarter by the stockholders of that institution, according to an announcement from the bank.

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of city schools, was principal speaker Thursday night at a get-together meeting of alumni of James L. Key High school. In addition to Mr. Sutton's talk a number of musical selections were given.

CITY HIGH SCHOOL SEEKS PLAY PRIZE

"Exit Mr. Chicle," a one-act play presented by the O'Keefe Junior High School club at the Atlanta Woman's club, won first prize of $50 offered by the Atlanta Tuberculosis association for the best health play, and will be entered in the national health play contest fostered by the National Tuberculosis association, it is announced.

Girls' high freshmen presented "What Price Flies" Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the school auditorium in competition for local honors, but the judges named the O'Keefe play for the local first prize.

Mrs. Emma Garret Boyd, of the Atlanta Drama league; Dr. Gordon J. Singleton, of the state department of education, and Dr. T. F. Sellers, of the state board of health, were judges. Since two plays could not enter in the national contest, the judges decided that the manuscripts of both O'Keefe and Girls' High be forwarded to the national judges.

BRADLEY SENTENCED UPON PROHI CHARGE

Cliff Bradley was found guilty by a jury in Judge C. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court Friday on charges of violating the prohibition law and was fined $200 and given a 12-months suspended sentence. It was charged that Bradley possessed five gallons of corn whisky in an automobile on West Mitchell street when arrested by city police on March 4.

ATLANTA URGED AS NEW LOCATION OF SOLDIERS' HOME

Sam C. Crane, southern secretary of the national soldier and sailors home committee, Friday made public information from Ralph H. Carroll, adjutant general of the United States War veterans, with national headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio, that the committee in reference to a southern home for veterans being located in Atlanta has taken up the matter in Washington, D. C.

Carmel A. Thompson, commander-in-chief of the national headquarters, together with Mr. Carroll have been to Washington and looked into the legislation of the bill, which was introduced by Congressman William D. Upshaw in the house and by Senator William J. Harris in the senate, it was stated in the communication to Mr. Crane from Mr. Carroll.

Six Persons Say Confession Made to Them by Coggeshall, McClelland, Says Macon News

Reports That Written Statement Was Left by Youths Not Substantiated, Says Paper.

Macon, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—Strong reports that a written confession exists in the Wright slaying case have been found without substantial foundation after state-wide investigation by the Macon News, but this investigation served to reaffirm, more strongly than ever, the assertion that a confession was made.

The rumors, most often heard in Macon, the state capital, and Atlanta, were to the effect that Ted Coggeshall and Floyd McClelland, electrocuted a week ago for the slaying of the Putnam county school superintendent, had signed a confession before going to the chair and that this confession was in the hands of some resident of this state who for unknown reasons is withholding it from the public.

Circulation of the rumors, which have gained in strength during the past week, caused a second questioning of all involved in the case, the investigation being conducted with the sole purpose of clearing the fair name of the state from the implication of courts from the implication of perverted justice cast on it by James L. Coggeshall, father of Ted, the News said.

The paper declared that some form of written statement or confession in regard to the crime is or has been in the hands of Mrs. W. T. Bibb, prominent woman welfare worker of Macon, would seem certain after an interview of Thursday.

"Have you ever received any signed statement or confession from either McClelland or Coggeshall?" she was asked point blank.

"I will not say yes or no," was the reply. "I can only repeat that both boys confessed to me orally the morning of the executions, and that Floyd had no hand in the actual killing."

Claim Oral Confessions.
The investigation revealed the fact that six persons assert oral confessions were made to them by one or both of the youths. The six present a striking range of the human society, comprising Mrs. J. S. Bibb, a welfare worker; Marion Allen, of counsel for the defense; two prominent young girls of Macon whose names are withheld, and one of whom is reported to have been engaged to Ted Coggeshall, and two condemned men in Bibb jail who were cell mates of the youthful pair.

A significant fact is that the statements of all six, given at separate times and places, are in accord to the last detail.

These reputed confessions, coming at second hand, in condensed form place the following version on the Wright slaying.

Returning north from Florida after unsuccessful efforts to find lucrative employment there, on the morning of March 4, 1925, the trio, Sam J. Scarborough, Ted L. Coggeshall and Floyd McClelland, found themselves near Eatonton.

Penniless and hungry, footsore and weary, they discussed their situation as they plodded along and Scarborough suggested that they catch a ride from the next passing motorist who was traveling alone, and then head him up. To this McClelland dissented, and when he saw that the plan was in prospect of being carried out he turned from his comrades and walked down the road in the opposite direction.

Hailed Professor Wright.
Professor Wright was the first unaccompanied motorist to overtake the remaining pair. They hailed him for a ride and he, one of the most kindly and open-hearted residents of the county, obligingly stopped and took them into his touring car.

Hardly had the car got under way again when the attack was made. That the actual blows were struck by Scarborough is the burden placed on his shoulders by both McClelland and Coggeshall. At any rate, the head and face of the professor were terribly battered with a heavy piece of iron that had been moulded into a tire tool.

Dragging the limp and apparently lifeless body into a thicket some little distance from the highway, the two youths drove back and secured McClelland, then reaching the blood-stained from the automobile and their hands and clothing. McClelland drove the car from that point to where it was abandoned in a clump of bushes near Athens, and according to his own reputed confession his only part in the crime was this and helping to rob the body.

Meanwhile the school superintendent staggered to the roadside in a semiconscious condition and there he was found by a passing motorist who carried him to Eatonton where he died two days later. The abandoned automobile was found the next day and a short time later the officers picked up the trio, walking toward Athens. In an inside pocket of McClelland's clothing they found the keys belonging to the switch on the Wright car, and other strong evidence was unearthed, court records show.

Scarborough Confessed.
Scarborough confessed, placing an equal implication of guilt on both his confederates and was sentenced to life imprisonment, which he is now serving out on a Cherokee county chain gang. He was formerly a resident of Macon, living with his family on Second street here. Coggeshall and McClelland maintained a front of innocence until the very end, but immediately after the executions Thursday of last week they developed that this was done at first in hopes of winning freedom, and at the last solely to save unnecessary grief to the stricken father and mother of Coggeshall.

STATE'S RIGHTS INVADIED, CLAIM

Deland, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—There is too great a tendency for the government to invade state rights, Chester R. Long, president of the American Bar association, said in his speech at the opening session of the Florida Bar association here this morning.

Long's address was the principal feature of the day's meeting. He pointed out the last four amendments as arguments, woman suffrage, prohibition, the income tax and the election of senators.

He further said governmental departments are assuming too great control of certain functions of law enforcement. In speaking of the association, he said it not only was a great thing for the attorneys but also for the public. It is by far the largest of four such institutions.

Two names are being heard as the leading candidates for the presidency in the election that is to come tomorrow, Cary B. Landis, of the firm of Landis, Fink, Whitfield, Hull, of Deland, and Louis Strum, associate justice of the Florida supreme court.

PAVING ORDERED ON FIVE STREETS TO BE CONCRETE

Award of paving contracts for five stretches and a vote to advertise for paving bids on four others Friday featured a meeting of the streets committee of council.

The streets to be paved follow: Martin avenue, from Jonesboro road to Gammon theological seminary, 1-493 yards; Gammon street, from Jonesboro road to Gammon seminary, 1,648 yards, and Thirkield street, from Jonesboro road to Murray street, 2-449 yards, all three to the Meador construction company at a cost of $2,084 a yard; Krog street, from Edgewood avenue to Irwin street, 2,735 yards; Lakeview drive, from Ridge-dale road to First avenue, 1,771 yards, both to Jamison and Hollowell at $2,408 and $2,111 a yard, respectively. All will be vibratile concrete.

The streets on which paving bids were asked are Ayler street, from Wellington to Laurel streets; Mortimer street, from Second avenue to Wylie street; Irwin street, from Fort street to Boulevards, and Forsyth street, from Alabama to Garnett.

The expected fight to widen Forsyth street from Alabama street to Mitchell by taking four feet from sidewalks on each side of the street failed to develop, when the committee consented to requests of property owners and declared that the committee would ask city council to sustain Mayor Walter A. Sims' view of the ordinance calling for the widening program. The matter was not officially heard, the committee electing to make the recommendation without the public hearing, which had been scheduled.

ARMSTRONG FREED ON MURDER CHARGE

Verdict of not guilty was directed Friday by Judge G. H. Howard in Fulton superior court in the case of George Armstrong, charged with murder in connection with the death of October 22, 1924, of Mrs. Josie Moore, wife of Captain M. W. Moore, military instructor of the Georgia Military academy.

Judge Howard directed the verdict on the grounds that the evidence presented by the state did not establish the guilt of the accused.

Armstrong was indicted on a charge of involuntary manslaughter by the Fulton county grand jury and immediately fled from the city, being a fugitive for approximately two years. He later was indicted on a charge of murder and was captured and returned to Atlanta, where he has been held pending trial.

Mrs. Moore was killed instantly in an automobile accident when the car in which she was riding is said to have been struck by a machine driven by Armstrong.

ROME SCHOOL HOLDS CONTESTS TONIGHT

Constitution Bureau.
Rome, Ga., April 2.—(Special)—Rome high school's preliminary contest will be held at the municipal auditorium, Saturday night at 8 o'clock, when from the contestants entered by the last week it developed that this was done at first in hopes of winning freedom, and at the last solely to save unnecessary grief to the stricken father and mother of Coggeshall.

March Was Cold.
Rome, Ga., April 2.—(Special)—The mean temperature in Rome for March was 45, while the rainfall was 5.21 inches, an unusually heavy rainfall for that month, according to Miss Mary Towers, government weather observer. The maximum temperature for the month was 79 on March 24. The minimum was 18, this coming on the fourteenth day of the month. The heaviest rainfall came on March 31, when the total was 2.01 inches. Chorine in Bathtub Party To Testify Against Carroll

New York, April 2.—"I was in the bathtub all right, but now Earl Carroll is in the soup," said Joyce Hawley with malicious glee Friday, commenting upon the forthcoming trial of the theatrical producer for perjury.

Joyce, who bathed in some sparkling beverage for the edification of Carroll's guests at his notorious "bathtub party" a few weeks ago, is looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to testifying against him in a perfectly lovely bath of publicity.

A grand jury indicted the producer for perjury because he swore that no one entered a bathtub on the occasion of the party, which was given in honor of William R. Edrington, Carroll's backer. Miss Hawley declared that upon the promise of a good job and $1,000, she stripped to the buff and took a bath in what she believed at the time to be champagne, while those guests who had remained for this part of the performance, cheered.

"I didn't get the job and I didn't get the $1,000," said Joyce. "However, I'm going to get Mr. Carroll. Will I tell the jury a thing or two next week? Oh, boy, will I?"

Carroll's lawyers have asked for an early trial, for the producer wanted to go to New Orleans and the fact that he is held in $2,500 bail automatically prevents him from going even as far as Brooklyn.

"Revelations" are promised by James A. Timothy, who represents Carroll. The producer pleaded guilty to the four counts of perjury, which had to do not only with the bathing of Miss Hawley, but with alleged violation of the Volstead act. He has six days in which to change his plea to guilty, in which case the maximum penalty is four years imprisonment and $2,000 fine.

Carroll's guests numbered some of the most distinguished figures of the world of arts and letters, as well as such prominent personages as Harry K. Thaw and Countess Cathcart. About a score of these will be summoned to testify against Carroll.

CONTINENTAL GIN TO ISSUE STOCK

The Trust Company of Georgia and affiliated interests, which recently acquired control of the Continental Gin company, will issue $6,000,000 preferred stock of the latter company and will list both preferred and common stock on the New York Stock Exchange, it was announced Friday by the trust company.

Control of the company was acquired by Atlanta interests several weeks ago and since that time an Atlanta man, Thomas Elliott, has been elected president and George W. Woodruff has been named assistant to the president. Mr. Elliott at one time was connected with the old Consolidated Street Railway company and more recently was president of the Cincinnati Car company.

Preferred stock will be cumulative and bear 7 per cent interest. Interests long associated with the company have subscribed $2,500,000 of the stock.

Plants are now operated by the company in Atlanta, Prattville and Birmingham, Ala.; Dallas, Tex.; Memphis, Tenn.; and Bridgewater, Mass. In these plants are manufactured cotton gins, cotton compresses, conveyors and other machinery used in cotton gins. The Continental Gin company is one of the oldest corporations in the country, having been organized 93 years ago.

Properties of the company are valued at $10,500,000 and average earnings per year for the past three years after deduction of federal taxes, have amounted to more than $1,200,000 a year.

Building Increases.
Rome, Ga., April 2.—(Special)—Forty-three building permits for a total of $52,564 were taken out during March against 19 permits for a total of $14,875 in February.

New buildings totaled 16 for March.

Many Special Features For Junior Matinee At Howard Theater

Special features, with an elaborate prologue has been arranged for the junior matinee at the Howard theater this morning at 9:30 o'clock, it was announced Friday by Mrs. Charles C. Harding, assistant chairman of the matinee.

Pupils of Mrs. Charles LaFontaine, including "six little Maids from Japan," and a "Chinese Sextet" will present the prologue, and an appropriate background will bring the charming atmosphere of the Orient to the performance, Mrs. Harding stated.

"The Golden Princess," starring Betty Bronson, heroine of Peter Pan, will be the feature picture, and the next episode of "The Fighting Rangers," will also be shown. The ticket office will open at 8:45 o'clock and children's tickets will be 10 cents each.

INDIANA POSSE TRAILING SLAYER OF POLICE OFFICER

Vincennes, Ind., April 2.—(AP)—James Schumake, of Detroit, Mich., hunted by a posse of 150 men from Knox and Pike counties, was trailed through the southern Indiana hills today. He is wanted for the slaying of Simon Carey, police detective, who was killed here yesterday when he and two other officers sought to arrest Schumake and Albert King, of Bicknell, Ind. Officers believed Schumake would be captured soon.

Schumake and King engaged in a revolver fight with the officers who had been summoned by a candy store proprietor who believed the men had attempted to pass a $5 counterfeit note.

King was wounded and captured. Police said they found in his possession $500 in new bank notes which had been stolen March 1 at Hartford, Arkansas.

CONSTIPATION DRAGS YOU DOWN

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings lasting relief

Don't let constipation drag you down and sap your health and vigor. Let Mr. Bovee's experience point the way to sure relief:

"The writer was suffering from the worst kind of an attack of constipation, and was filling himself to the neck with all kinds of physic, which only gave me temporary relief and many times made me worse than before. Since eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for breakfast every day I have had no trouble whatever."

DENY BANKRUPTCY Parliamentary Regime
IN TOBACCO CASE Goes to Final Burial
Under Italian System

Fascist Syndicalism
Spells Doom of Former Plan of Government for All Time in Italy.

BY JOHN J. CLAYTON.

(Copyright, 1936, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Rome, August 22.—The Italian government, dead in Italy since the advent of Benito Mussolini, will be buried with honors by a new senate which will be elected in Italy. It will be concreted in a new upper house to be composed of representatives of various Italian syndicates. The Roosevelt-Roosevelt syndicate syndicalism, will gradually progress until the entire body is composed of representatives of syndicates to operate and govern the country by October, he declared.

The syndicates to be represented are: a syndicate of industrialists; a syndicate of agriculturists; a syndicate of commerce; a syndicate of agriculture, representing the concentrated capital of the Italian nation, and a syndicate of manual labor, representing the concentrated capital in which all labor unions and unions of lawyers, doctors, professors and officials, and clerical workers, are concentrated representing productive labor.

In October the senate will consist of 380 members. Of these, 50 will represent four capital syndicates and 50 the combined labor syndicates. The other 280 will include many appointed for life terms and others elected for one or two year terms. As vacancies occur, they will be filled with representatives of capital and labor and in equal proportions until the entire senate is syndicate composed the entire senate.

I asked Signor Roosevelt in what way fascist syndicalism differed from that of Signor Social.

"Social's objective is the emptying of the state (the subtraction of all powers from the central government). During the construction of the new state in the central government. Through this, we will do away with politicians and the present political parties. There is no need for two bodies of law-makers. There is no need for nobles and peasants. There is no need. What we need is workers. In Italy every man from now on must work eight hours a day. Those who do not work will be transported to the colonies, where they will be forced to work." "He who does not work shall not eat," I suggested.

"Work or Die."

"Not exactly. I would prefer to make it stronger. He who does not work shall not live," replied Signor Roasoni.

A suggestion that a special minister for syndicates be appointed does not offend the sensibility of Signor Roasoni. The man who is responsible for the fascist syndicalism believes that every citizen should be a fighting force, should rest with Premier Mussolini.

"I believe a secretary of state directly responsible to the Premier Mussolini should be appointed to reverse the work of the ambassadors," he asserted.

From Signor Roosoni's attitude, I believe this plan will be adopted. The syndicalist system of the fascists, which they have effected in Germany as the first radical departure of parliamentarianism in a solution of the problems of capital and labor, calls for a concentration of authority. In the new fascist state, foreseen by Mussolini, it is as much as the government as the national defense and foreign policy. Therefore, the majority of fascist leaders feel this power should

With the adoption of this plan, Premier Mussolini would be responsible as minister of foreign affairs, national defense, and the syndicates, as well as president of the council of ministers.

The announcement is made that the syndicalist program in Italy is made possible through the cooperation of capital. It has been a bitter fight, but finally Premier Mussolini has convinced the leading industrialists, through the able cooperation of Signor Roossini, that it spells prosperity for Italy.

The adoption of the system means not only liquidation of the chamber of commerce but the washing out of all national elections in Italy. The senators will be chosen through the syndicates, with the approval of the king. The senate will be the leading body, but always will be subordinated to the proposals of the grand fascist council, the governing body of the party, which today numbers 635,000.

Absolute Control.

Absolute control by the government of national resources and production is an indispensable part of the fascist imperial program. Envisaged in the program in the future is control by

JOHN T. KING HELD ON PERJURY COUNT

(Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
New York, April 2.—An indictment charging perjury in the submission of an allegedly fraudulent income tax return was found today by the federal grand jury against John T. King, former republican national committee chairman for Connecticut and alleged associate of Colonel Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, now under indictment.

King is charged with having "unlawfully, knowingly, and willingly committed the crime of perjury" for the purpose of defrauding the United States by making a false affidavit before a notary in a paper "purporting to be an income tax return for the year 1921." It is alleged that this return showed no tax due, whereas, in fact, the tax payable was "in excess of $40,000."

Free Figures in Case.
The income unreported according to the charge is assumed to be the fee King is alleged to have received as a co-conspirator with Miller with the return of assets of the American Metal Corporation to their German owners. Miller is charged with having defrauded the government in connection with this return.

Shortly after the indictment was filed King appeared with William E. Leahy, his counsel, and pleaded not guilty. Leahy was a former special assistant to the attorney general. Assistant Federal Attorney Simpson then took King before Judge John C. Knox.

"The defendant, John T. King, is charged in an indictment with committing a perjury in filing his income tax for the year 1921, and defrauding the government thereby out of $40,000. The government requests a substantial amount of bail be set in this case, your honor," said Simpson.

Judge Knox then set the bond for the reappearance of King at $25,000, which was put up by a surety company.

Federal Prosecutor Buckner said the perjury indictment against King resulted from an examination of the income tax returns on file at the bureau of internal revenue.

Claimed No Tax Due.
According to specifications in King's indictment, the income tax return made by King for that year showed a gross income of $31,529.15, a net income of $206.15, and hence no tax due.

But at the time he made this return, the indictment alleges, King "knew his total income was an amount greatly in excess of $31,529.15 and was in excess of $100,000, and was being untruthfully reported to the grand jury."

The net income, it is alleged, was in excess of $137,296.15, and the amount of the tax due in excess of $40,000.

Orphaned Sisters Threaten Gunshot for 'Ape-Like Man'

Providence, R. I., April 2.—(AP)—An "ape-man" reported to be frightening residents of North Stonington, Conn., is merely a prospective purchaser of a farm wearing a fur coat and endeavoring by his antics to frighten away two orphaned sisters who inherited the farm he seeks. This was the report made tonight by George Denison, game warden, after a day's search for the "ape-man" on the Horace L. Miner farm.

"If that fellow goes out there again with the skin of an animal over his head," said Denison, "they are going to put the lead to him. I wouldn't mind to try again if I were he."

Denison said he had found no trace of the man today, however.

The Miner girls, Muriel, aged 19, and Mildred, aged 16, inherited the farm from their father who died recently. Denison said they are armed and ready to shoot and other residents of the neighborhood also have their shot guns at hand and will "brook no ape-man real estate tactics in the vicinity of the future."

The man creature has succeeded in frightening Frank Miller, aged 74, who lives on the place despite the stoical attitude of his youthful employees.

"I won't catch me going back, either," said Miller. The Miner sisters, however, insist that they are not afraid and that they will retain and till the acres of the Miner homestead.

The ape-man has not been seen for several days, and is thought to have been frightened by threats of shooting. He had been frequently seen bounding about on shoulders in the fields and once or twice on hay stacks. By these antics, it is believed, he sought to frighten away the Miner girls and so be able to buy the property cheaply.

Auto Is Cause
Of Prosperity
Asserts Foster
Army Officers

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Washington, April 2.—The automobile is responsible for the present high prosperity of the United States, by starting a flow of money into many channels, it is asserted by army officers.

This unique diagnosis of good times has been given to the house banking and currency committee by William F. Foster, director of the United States Foundation for Economic Research, a recognized economic expert. It was cited in connection with his explanation of why he believed this country will see a period of gradual deflation in testimony on a bill giving the federal reserve board power to stabilize prices.

Auto Brought Prosperity.
"Had it not been for the development of the new industry in the last few years, the automobile industry, and the vast amount of capital facilities created in connection with that industry, the prosperity of this period would have been impossible," he said.

"The automobile has done for us the last ten years roughly what the railroad did for us in the previous period, in the way of inducing a flow of money to the consumer in connection with the development of that capital facility, in advance of goods consumers were asked to pay for."

Foster believes that the nearness of the automobile industry to fall off gradually, pointing out that this has happened already in England, and is responsible in part for a foreboding condition here.

"A time is coming in this country," he said, "when we shall feel the effect of a declining rate in production of goods, and the result will be a period of deflation."

Reserve Board to Aid.
Foster believes that the federal reserve board, through its powers of controlling the flow of money, will be able to help in preventing rapid inflation or harmful deflation, but pointed out that it could do very little in some situations over which it could not exert control. He gave the board credit for preventing deflation in 1923, when prices were rising swiftly, but said he did not believe the board possibly could have stopped the depression in 1920-21, which was the result of a condition which began in 1914.

Prices cannot be stabilized by controlling the gross volume of money in circulation, he said, taking issue with other economists who have appeared before the committee and have supported the bill.

Easter Showers
Are Predicted
By Forecaster

Gloom was cast on the prospects for a sunny Easter Sunday late Friday afternoon by C. F. von Hermann, official weather forecaster, and unless a sudden change takes place during the day, Atlanta was to be greeted by showers and colder temperatures Sunday, it was stated Friday.

A disturbance in Texas and the lower Rocky mountain region will result in local showers accompanied by lower temperatures. No all day rain is expected, but overcast skies will prevail with intermittent rains.

Probable showers during the afternoon and early hours of the night are predicted for today, Mr. Von Hermann stated Friday afternoon, with temperatures ranging between 55 and 65 degrees.

Friday's temperatures ranged from 46 as a minimum to 68 during the afternoon.

COMMANDER BYRD
WILL USE KITES
ON POLAR TRIP

Boston, Mass., April 2.—(AP)—Kites will form a part of the equipment of Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd in his flight to the Arctic. They will be carried for emergency purposes, Samuel P. Perkins, of Rochester, said today, as a device has been perfected to hold the kite steady in the air, should it become necessary to hoist a radio aerial on one of them. They also could be used as distress signals.

Mr. Perkins, who will furnish the kites, gave Commander John Rodgers, of Hawaiian flight fame, his first ride in the air in 1911. It was while Commander Rodgers, then a junior officer, was attached to the Pacific fleet and Mr. Perkins was demonstrating his man-carrying kite. Commander Rodgers went up from the deck of a battleship.

PROSPERITY SEEN IN TAX INCREASES APPROVES SAFELY

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—The increase of almost $60,000,000 in income tax collections for the March quarter over receipts of a year ago when the rates were higher and looking upon today at the white house as the result of improved business conditions fostered by taxpayers' anticipation of the rate reductions.

At the same time another warning to congress to hold down on proposed increases in permanent expenses of the government was issued on behalf of President Coolidge, who believes a deficit in 1927 still is a dangerous probability.

Final statistics issued today by the treasury showed collections for the year. He holds the opinion, however, that the returns for the next three quarters of the year under the new law will materially decrease, and that the full effect of the widespread tax reductions ordered by congress will not be felt until the end of the year.

One reason for the heavy collections this quarter, as seen by the president, is the likelihood that many taxpayers already have paid their total tax, rather than use the quarterly installment system.

The president had counted on the treasury surplus which appears inevitable at the end of this fiscal year, but it is the next fiscal year for which congress is now appropriating that is causing him concern.

The gross public debt of the nation was during March to $20,082,740, or 991 or by $136,402,409 the treasury stated today. At the same time the general fund chargeable also against the debt, increased from $340,841, to $486,946 and net reduction in the debt during the month actually amounted to $339,512,489.

Feet of Poor

Madrid, April 2.—(AP)—The annual Easter ceremony of washing the feet of the poor on Holy Thursday was held today in the city of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria.

After mass in the royal palace, the king washed the feet of thirteen poor men and the queen thirteen poor women, and then served a bountiful meal to them.

The food was bought and paid for by the grantees, some of the ladies of the court contributing as much as 200 pesetas ($28) each.

Pensacola, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—Two members of the crew of the fishing schooner Seminole, which returned to port today from Mexican waters, reported the loss of two of its crew members from effects of drinking poisoned liquor. The dead men were Walter Blum, cook, and Ellis Blaglin, fisherman.

Captain Blaglin told port authorities here that the men had obtained the liquor from a light keeper on the coast of Mexico, at what is known as the United States light house. One of the crew who drank some of the liquor barely escaped with their lives, it was said.

Chicago, April 2.—(AP)—A free gate and no purse marked Ed "Strangler" Lewis' latest appearance as a heavyweight grappler today. "The Strangler" and Lowell L. Weber, a 62-year-old broker, scored a draw before Municipal Judge Padden.

"Call it a draw," said Judge Padden, and I would suggest that Mr. Lewis and his gentlemen tickets for his next match."

Lewis and Weber, who had staged a battle in a snow-drifted street when their automobiles scuffled fenders, then shook hands and posed for the newspaper photographers.

Miami, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—Miami's effort to determine the city's most polite policeman was ended tonight by the announcement of Chief of Police H. Leslie Quigg that the "courtesy campaign" recently inaugurated in his department had been called off.

"It was getting too much like a beauty contest," said the chief. Reports that women had been active in the campaign to vote for their favorite cops have come to Quigg's attention. One petition, he said, contained 50 names of "voters," all written in the same hand.

Why have RHEUMATISM?

O H, what a wonderful feeling to be free from that miserable rheumatism! To know again the joy of limber joints and active muscles—freedom from that agonizing pain!

How often have you longed for some relief as you suffer from joints—how often have you said you would give anything in the world for a few hours comfort! But you didn't know that all you had to do to get real relief from this nerve wracking misery was just to build rich, red blood, did you? You didn't know that rheumatism had to be stopped from the inside by destroying the impurities that cause it—by building millions of red cells in your poor, weak blood, did you?

BY FREDERICK LEWIS EARP
Special Correspondent of Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance With Detroit Arctic Expedition.

(Copyright, 1926, by Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.) Fairbanks, Alaska, April 2.—Captain George Hubert Wilkins and his pilot, Ben Eielson, in their monoplane, the Alaskan, arrived safely at Point Barrow on the arctic coast Wednesday afternoon after their flight from Fairbanks, according to word received at the Detroit Arctic expedition's base here last night by radio from Captain Wilkins. Howard Mason, chief radio operator of the expedition, was in communication with Wilkins from 11:12 to 11:19 p. m.

Captain Wilkins, operating the small airplane radio set himself, managed to get through weak, but reliable signals from the northernmost spot in Alaska 500 miles north of here.

"We arrived safely at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday," Captain Wilkins radioed. He and Lieutenant Carl B. Eielson left Fairbanks six and one-half hours before their single-engine Pockler. In sending his message out an antenna on the wing of his plane, makes new radio history. The complete sending set weighs only 68 pounds. In sending his message out the north Captain Wilkins used an emergency hand generator to furnish power.

It was a dramatic scene in the hangar on the landing field here as the members of the expedition clustered around Mason, who was straining his ears to catch the faint signals from the distant explorers. In the huge cavern of the hangar by the feeble rays of an old lantern with airplane wings looming ghostlike in the background, Mason listened for hours waiting for the Wilkins message. We scarcely breathed.

Finally, at 11 o'clock, Mason turned his head and murmured the news to those surrounding him, and then turned to his dials, deaf to everything else but the faint dots and dashes that the chief of the expedition was sending over nearly 600 miles of snowy wastes. As soon as Wilkins faded away Mason turned on Assistant Radio Operator Robert Wassker, who had been waiting for the party in camp near the Anaktavuk river, only 150 miles southwest of Barrow.

Wassker, too, had been listening to Wilkins. Wassker himself operating a light set with an emergency antenna strung to a tree in the middle of the camp, had been waiting for him but his set is either quitting on him or he forgot his code and had to look up the characters. I think the trouble was the generator, not turning up fast enough and slowed down when he pressed the key."

WEATHER MAN

85 PER CENT OF TIME

Washington, April 2.—The weather man, as growing tired of being called a liar.

Anyone who thinks the forecaster of storms and fair weather is just a poor guesser has been referred to a report of the official weather bureau. During the last six years more than 85 per cent of the weather predictions in the eastern part of the United States have been "direct hits." The weather man has guessed wrong less than 15 per cent of the time, the report reveals.

And also its short range has become more accurate every year.

Hamsch left for Pensacola to select the planes at the government naval station. One of the planes will be stationed at Tampa and two at Miami. Savannah also will get one for use in patrolling the Georgia coast.

TO EXTEND LINE

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—The senate adopted today a bill appropriating $27,000 for the relief of the Muscogee Shoals, Birmingham & Pensacola railroad, successor to the receiver of the Gulf, Florida & Alabama railway. The appropriation is for expenses incurred in extending at the request of the government, its line from Pensacola, Fla., to the naval air station during the world war. The measure goes to the house.

RETIREMENT PLANNED

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Retirement for army nurses is provided in a bill passed today by the senate without a record vote and sent to the house. After 30 years' service, or after 20 years' service and on reaching the age of 45, they would be eligible to retirement on 3 per cent of their annual pay.

Browning Is Building Home For Her Says Cinderella

FRANCES ANNOUNCES HER ENGAGEMENT
New York, April 2.—(AP)—Fifteen-year-old Frances Heenan is engaged to marry Edward W. Browning, she announced tonight. He is building a home for them on a 135-acre estate at Bellmore, Long Island, she added.

The latest Cinderella of the elderly real estate operator made the announcement "to correct the false impression that I am an adventuress" and to protect her beleaguered admirer whose attentions to her are under scrutiny of the children's society.

Both Browning and the girl previously had refused to confirm or deny reports of their engagement, although they made no secret of their friendship.

The girl now is recovering from burns on the face said to have been inflicted by an unidentified assailant who threw acid on her as she slept, and Browning today offered to undergo a skin-grafting operation to save her beauty.

"The date of our wedding has not been fixed," Miss Heenan said, "but it will be some time after my sixteenth birthday, which is on next June 23." "Daddy," as she called Browning, has promised to let her pick out her engagement ring at a Fifth avenue jeweler's, she said.

"I am not marrying Mr. Browning for his money nor for a career," she added. "I am a home-loving person and I want an intellectual companionship with a man with whom I can feel safe."

Cotton Growers
Discuss Plans
To Steady Prices

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Representatives of cotton growing states met today with the southern congressional delegation and discussed plans to stabilize the price of cotton.

Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, author of the cotton futures act, declared in a speech that some means should be provided to regulate the flow of cotton to the spinners in an orderly manner.

"If this is done," he asserted, "the price of cotton will become stabilized and the manufacturer can afford to buy ahead with the assurance that his competitor will have to pay the same price. This will encourage cotton goods manufacturers to go out and develop markets and increase consumption."

"There never has been a surplus of cotton over a general period of 30 years but on the other hand there has been a shortage. Some machinery must be set up to take care of the heavy production of flux years and portion it out over lean years."

The cotton delegation will hold a series of conferences in the hope that a satisfactory arrangement can be made for them to join the western grain farmers in a farm relief bill.

Ponzi Is Found Guilty on Land
Charge in Florida

Jacksonville, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—Charles Ponzi, charged with violating the state statutes regulating the operation of trusts was found guilty late today by a jury in the Duval court of criminal records.

The verdict carries a sentence of two years in the state prison or a fine of $1,500. The jury was out one hour and three minutes.

Frank Brennan, counsel for the defense, filed notice of appeal for next Tuesday. The appeal will be heard next Tuesday.

Ponzi, who has been at liberty under a bond of $5,000 since his indictment on February 8 last, will remain at liberty under the same bond.

REIGN OF TERROR SEEN IN BALKANS

BY HENRY WALES.
(Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Paris, April 2.—That the Balkans are unrepentant after having brought under case of terror, perpetrated by legally qualified authorities, especially in Bulgaria and Rumania, where, accomplished by combined financial and military means, the Spanish acquisition look sweet and clean.

"In the center police station in Belgrade," says Mr. Barbusse, there is a trailer in which the bodies of prisoners from whom information is wanted are presented to the flames. "Needles are stuck under the tongues of suspects and hot pins under their nails. There is a special machine which squeezes the head until the skull is fractured. At Choum there is a special electric treatment that specialists apply to make a man talk. Several have died under these administrations."

At Varna, Bulgaria, when suspects are examined, three automobile motors running at full speed, drown the cries of the victims.

In Bulgaria, Colonel Koussmassov, after killing groups of young men under the eyes of their parents, forced the latter to kiss the hands of the dead. In the villages dogs dragged human members about the streets for days afterward. Elsewhere men are tied with ropes behind trucks which are driven full tilt.

After the killing of Ferdinand, after a political revolt all the wounded were slain, as well as two girl nurses 15 years of age, and two doctors who cared for the wounded, and then 22 children.

FURIOUS BATTLE
STAGED BY HINDUS
AND BY MOSLEMS

London, April 2.—(AP)—A furious fight took place in Calcutta, India, today between a Hindu sect and Moslems, and according to one estimate, 20 persons were killed and 150 injured.

The Calcutta correspondent of The Exchange Telegraph says that the fight began with the approach to a mosque in the northern part of the city of a procession with music led by the Arya Samaj sect of Hindus, enemies of the Moslem. Fighting developed when the Moslems tried to bar the way, the trouble soon spreading to other streets.

Deputy Police Commissioner Bartley and another European, Sergeant Davis, went to the commissioner's assistance and were slightly hurt.

Crackers Pack Up And Start Home; To Arrive Today

Hold Brief But Snappy Workout Before Bidding Farewell to 1926 Training Camp.

BY CLARENCE NIXON,
Staff Correspondent.

Thomasville, Ga., April 2.—(Special.)—Bert Niehoff gathered up his ball tossers and playthings and left Thomasville, the Cracker training camp, today and started for Atlanta, where they will play several exhibition games before departing for Nashville to open the Southern league season.

The Crackers have been doing their stuff here since March 8 and have rounded themselves into a snappy baseball team. They have been working hard nearly every day.

They held a snappy workout this morning before packing for the trip back to Atlanta. The workout was very brief, only a little pep talk and some fast batting practice being on the program.

The Cracker skipper has not shipped any of his players off to other leagues yet, but is expected to farm several of the less experienced players out in a few days.

Joe Karl, a promising young pitcher, will go to the new club just organized in Savannah for a season.

Manager Niehoff has quite a gathering of pitchers on his hands, but must cut the list to seven in order to come within the Southern league limit by June 6. In addition to Karl Baker, a youngster, has shown well and will be placed in a minor league for another season. In another season he will be good enough for

Crimson Ready For Meet Today

BY BOB MATHERNE.

University, Ala., April 2.—(Special.)—Another track season for Alabama is to get under way Saturday when the Crimson meet the Birmingham-Southern squad in Birmingham. This is the first meet for Alabama. The second will be staged next Wednesday at Denny field against the University of Havana.

Coch Crips does not look for any too much from his track team of this year. He has quite a number of sophomores who should make good track men in a year or two.

This meet Saturday will give him a chance to see what Bruce, Blodgett, Louis Smith, Tolbert Brown, Payne, Chason and Fidler can do.

Alabama's team Saturday will include more than likely, Captain Smith, Louis Smith, the two Youngs, Brown, Walker, Walding, Lewis, Buckler, Blodgett, Bruce, Pickard, Lewis and maybe one or two more.

Hoff To Start
U. S. Tour Today

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Charley Hoff, sensational Norwegian athlete, leaves tomorrow for Chicago on the first lap of a transcontinental tour.

Hoff has received invitations to exhibit his pole vaulting and all-around prowess in more than a dozen cities of the far west, middle west and south, but the only definite engagement he has made so far is for the Drake relay carnival at Des Moines, Iowa, April 23 and 24. He expects, however, to accept invitations to compete at several other cities in the middle and far west.

On the way back east to prepare for the national championships at Philadelphia July 5 and 6, the Norwegian probably will visit New Orleans.

The pole vault champion will be accompanied by his bride and brother-in-law. They will spend next week in Chicago.

STRIB SIGNS FOR RISK GO NEXT MONTH

Miami, Fla., April 2.—(AP)—Young Stribling, Georgia school boy fighter, will meet Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, Ohio, in Madison Square Garden on May 14.

This announcement was made here tonight by "Pa" Stribling, father-manager of the Georgia fighter. Mr. Stribling exhibited a wire from Jess McMahon, Madison Square Garden match-maker, who declared that he had signed Risko today.

Mr. Stribling also announced a brief barnstorming tour for Young Stribling previous to this match. He will meet Chick Burns at Wichita, Kansas; Tom Marvin, at Oklahoma City, and Joe Lohman, at Kansas City, Mo., on unannounced dates.

Young Stribling plans to go in training for the Risko bout immediately after this tour. He will train for this fight in Miami.

Perrin League Is Organized

The Perrin Sunday School Athletic association's baseball league was organized Friday night at a meeting at the Perrin athletic good store. Six teams were represented, but two more are desired before the playing season starts.

Those represented at the meeting are Lakewood Heights Methodist, Northwest Atlanta Baptist, Calvary Methodist, Orchard Knob, the Bethlehem class of the Capitol View Presbyterian, and the class of the Baptist Tabernacle.

J. E. Parker was elected secretary. The league will play three rounds among eight teams, starting on April 17.

Columbus, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—Leonard Jarrett, 9 years old, of Phenix City, Ala., was drowned Thursday morning when he fell into the swollen Chattahoochee river from the structure of a milldam on the Alabama side of the stream. The body was recovered shortly afterwards.

The boy was playing with a brother at the time he fell into the water. He is survived by his mother, a brother and two sisters. Funeral service will be held today.

NO CHANGE IS SEEN IN PRINCESS VICTORIA

London, April 2.—(AP)—No change was noted tonight in the condition of Princess Victoria, sister of King George, who is ill with influenza pneumonia at Marlborough House. Except for this announcement the physicians attending her did not issue an official bulletin. The Princess of Wales is still confined to her room at York House after the operation on her ear early in the week.

As making good progress and was able to sit up for a little while today. There have been reports about his going to a seaside resort, but nothing has been arranged as yet.

The Crackers.

"SAY," said Wilbert Robinson, manager and president of the Brooklyn baseball club, Friday afternoon, "I wish I had that big fellow, Nick Cullip, on my baseball team. You couldn't get him off of there. How that boy can sock 'em. Nice fellow, good habits, and everything to make him a great ball player. Yes, sir, I sure wish I had him."

Robinson believes Miller Huggins has acquired one of the greatest youngsters in the country in Nick, who pounded the baseball in rather convincing fashion for Atlanta last year.

Atlanta will agree with him.

ROBBIE also took occasion to point out that when he was here a year ago he told everybody who wanted to listen that Atlanta had the club which would win the pennant in the Southern league.

The Crackers did win, but Wilbert would have been surprised to have seen the combination which finally put the winning cross.

He wanted to know what the folks think of this year's club. "Not so good as last year," he asserted on the fact that the team is not strong offensively, but agreed that the pitching staff is stronger and may carry the team to another victory.

CHAPTER XV.
What with the excitement of our first trip over for the British open, the merry scramble in our own national championship, and my close run with Jack Hutchison, the season of 1920 was one of the most active I have been previously described. There were certain other incidents worthy of mention in these chronicles.

For one thing I again won the Shawnee open, making it two straight. I tied for the Metropolitan championship at the Greenwich Country club of Connecticut with Walter Hagen, but was beaten in the play-off. Some reason that is one title that almost seems to have me jinxed. If I were disposed to be superstitious, I would certainly say that some kind of a hoodoo follows me in this competition. Once before Hagen and I had tied, at Garden City, in 1916, Charles Hoffer, of Philadelphia, making it a three-cornered affair that year, and Hagen won the play-off. Then again in 1923 I tied with Bob MacDonald at the Canoe Brook Country club, of New Jersey, and Bob won in the play-off.

My contract with the Sunset Hill club expired in 1920, and my next move was back east again this time to the Pelham Country club of New York, a brand-new club. Early in the spring of that year, talk began to go around of another delegation of American professionals sailing abroad to take an "over" try for the British title. A movement was begun to finance the trip of a team, and a considerable amount of money was raised. I did not share in this, however, as my own club wanted me to go over and sent me of its own accord.

In all, 11 went, and in addition Douglas Edgar, then located at the Druid Hills club in Atlanta, had gone over earlier in the year, so that there were 12 of us entered for the championship. It was by far the most formidable challenge, at least so far as numbers went, that we have ever sent over. A team match was played with the leading British players at the Gleneagles club in Scotland, but through misfortune I did not get to play in these matches. Shortly before we sailed from here, I contracted a series of boils on my neck, and from the time that we arrived in England, I was unable to swing a club at all. But finally, after a doctor had done some strange things to my neck, I managed to get into the championship, at St. Andrews.

As a matter of the qualifying rounds I was a little concerned to see the effect this period of no play was going to have on my game. But after the first round, I was convinced that it was about the best thing that could have happened. I shot a 70 on the old course at St. Andrews, setting a new record for a competitive round. Previous to that the record had stood at 71 for several years.

His Best Round.
That 70, I think, was the best round of golf I ever played. It was played the best score I have ever made, even when the difficulties of the course and conditions of play are taken into consideration. I was the best player in the round. I did not make one mistake in the round. I holed no long putts and missed no short ones. My drives were straight down the line, my approaches almost covered the pin, and there was really no work to getting the record score.

As a matter of fact, there rarely is any feeling of working for a score, when one is scoring exceptionally well. That's the reason for low scoring. When a player is laboring, he is pretty sure to be introducing some of the common faults, such as hurrying the back swing, mistiming the hit, lifting his head a wee bit too soon, and so on.

Naturally I was pretty well pleased with the qualifying rounds. Apparently I had reached the tournament around the top of my stride, and it wasn't very hard to believe that a big chance was staring me in the face. And so it was. On the first day of play in the championship proper, I had two fine steady rounds of 74 each and stood second to Jack Hutchison who was leading at 77. Then I shot another 74 on the third round and things looked better still. Jack took 79 on his third round and dropped back temporarily, and I found myself tied with my old friend Sandy Herd at 222 at the start of the final round.

When I reached the turn in 36 on that last round, I wouldn't have taken anything for my chances. But the lay-off that had been forced on me by my flock of boils began to tell. Whereas it had left me as keen as mustard for the game, I lacked plain ordinary physical condition for the hard grind. I managed to keep up my average of even fours through the tenth and eleventh holes, but then I broke. First I took three putts at the eleventh, and from then I was through. I was tired, dog tired, and every shot meant an effort. The last six holes cost me 31 strokes, and I finished with an 80, which was six back of the total at which Jack Hutchison and Roger Wethered, the English amateur, tied for the title. Had I been in better physical shape, I would have won then and there.

The end of the story of Jack's great finish, with a card of 70 in the last round to tie my newly-created record, has been told many times. It was a great day for Jack, when after going out in 36, and needing to do a 70 to tie, he played the last nine holes on that famous old course in 34 strokes, after which he defeated Wethered in the play-off by five strokes. Born and reared in St. Andrews, his winning was certainly a case of going back and showing the old home town.

TILDEN MEETS CHAPIN TODAY AT AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., April 2.—(AP)—William Tilden II, national champion, although entering the finals in men's singles of the South Atlantic tennis tournament, had rough sailing today, both in singles and mixed doubles, and, playing with Miss Florence Ballin, was eliminated in the latter when Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Jerry Lang, New York, defeated the champion and his partner, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

The phantom of the courts, limping slightly from a wrenched knee, met with stiff and stubborn opposition in the form of young Jerry Lang, the collegian from Columbia university. Only after extending himself to meet the brilliant playing of his opponent was Tilden able to vanquish him, 2-6, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., fourteenth ranking player, from Springfield, Mass., will meet Tilden tomorrow morning, the Massachusetts star having eliminated Howard Voshell, of Brooklyn, this morning. After Chapin had won the first set, 11-9, and with the score eight all in the second set, Voshell defaulted.

Two of Tilden's youthful proteges from Philadelphia, Fred Hunter and Walter "Shrimp" Thomas, battled at length for the junior honors. Thomas finally defeating his townsman, 10-8, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4.

The feature match of the afternoon, which kept the gallery on edge, was the semi-finals match in mixed doubles, when Tilden and Miss Ballin lost to Miss Elizabeth Ryan, second ranking women's player in America, and the New Yorker, Jerry Lang.

In the other bracket of mixed doubles Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Chapin, Jr. survived by eliminating Mrs. Florence Bradley and George O'Connell.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan and Mrs. Charlotte Hosmer Chapin will meet tomorrow morning in the finals of the women's singles, the former having defeated Mrs. Theodora Sohet, winner of the tournament last year, 6-1, 6-0, while Mrs. Chapin overcame Miss Florence Ballin, 6-1, 6-4.

Donald Strachan and Walter Thomas will face Sandy Veinor and Junior Cohen in the finals of the junior doubles.

Johnny Conn Pitches Beautiful Baseball To Blank Irish Team

Captain Bob Reeves Gets Homer and Double To Lead Tech Sluggers—Same Teams To Clash Again Today.

BY CARTER BARRON.

Continuing their terrific batting assault that apparently is irrefragable of who the opposing mound artist is, Georgia Tech's baseballers Friday downed Notre Dame by a count of 7 to 0. Johnny Conn, on the hill for Coach Clay's proteges, was in superb form, and kept the seven Irish hits well scattered.

Tech wasted no time in sewing things up, and scored five times in the first two innings before Walsh could get from the box to the shower room.

In the first frame, Winder singled and reached second on Moreland's sacrifice. Reeves was hit by a pitched ball and Angley drew a pass, but Wycoff fanned with the sacks loaded. A walk to Merkle forced run over, but Walsh bore down and struck out Crowley to end the frame.

Reeves cracks one. The second, however, was different, and Tech didn't stop until four runners had scampered across the home station. Brewer started things with a single, and pilfered second. Conn, from where he scored on Winder's double, Moreland singled, and Captain Bobby Reeves then cleaned things up with a long homer over the center field fence.

Tech subsided for a couple of innings, but broke loose again in the sixth when Reeves doubled, and scored on Angley's infield out, and scored on Wycoff's sacrifice fly.

The last center came in the eighth. Moreland singled, Reeves sacrificed, and after Angley had whiffed, Moreland scored on Wycoff's single.

Notre Dame was unable to bunt hits off the Tech pitching crew, and only one man reached third. That was in the sixth, and there was no one out at the time, but Conn fanned the next two batters and forced the third to hit a weak grounder.

Play Again Today.
Reeves, with his homer and double, Tech's hitting star, although Brewer, with two singles and a double, and Winder and Moreland, with two safeties each, corroborated in fine style. Winder also played a beautiful fielding game.

Silver, Irish receiver, was the only invader to hit safely more than once, and Moore's double was the only extra inning blow Notre Dame could get from Conn's shoots.

The same teams will meet today at Dayton, Ohio, April 2.—(AP)—Dayton will be the base from which sham air attacks will be launched on distant cities in maneuvers to be conducted at Fairfield April 20 and May 3, it was learned today.

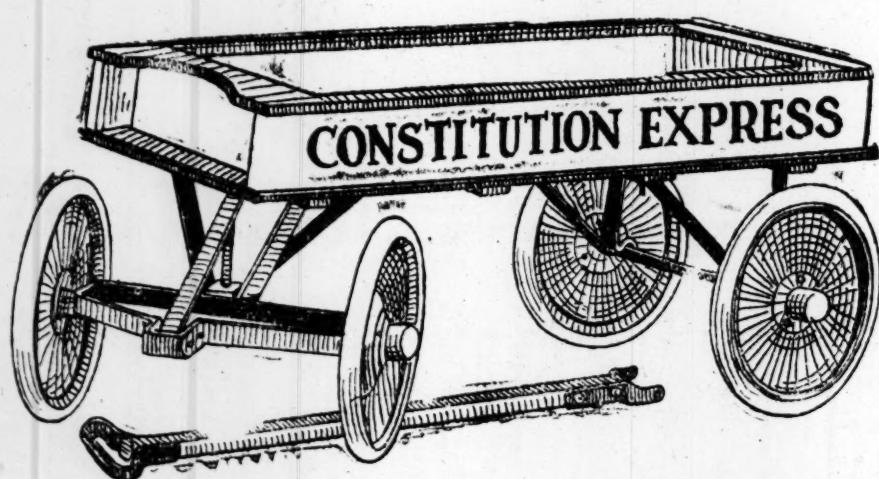

Maneuvers will be conducted to develop an air defense for Dayton, which might be the object of enemy attack, because of the city's prominence as an air center, Fairfield officials said.

Major A. W. Robins, commandant, said he had received instructions to prepare for the coming of 50 planes, 35 officers and 100 enlisted men. Some of the contingent will be fliers attached to the regular army, and the remainder will be auxiliary troops. Three branches of the air service are to be represented—pursuit, bombardment and attack. The fliers will come from Selfridge field, Mt. Clemens, Mich.; Kelly field, Texas, and Langley field, Va.

Dartmouth Defeats Petrel Nine, 3 to 2, In Ten Inning Clash

Invaders Tie Score With Two Out in Ninth To Rob Oglethorpe of Apparently Certain Victory—Play Again Today.

BY LAMAR JACKSON.

Jeff Tesreau's Big Green descended from the hills of New Hampshire and Friday afternoon took up the business of tramping on the Oglethorpe Petrels at the point where they let up last year. The score on this occasion was 3 to 2, but Oglethorpe put up the gamiest kind of a struggle, and didn't succumb until after they had scared the daylight out of the Dartmouth nine. Even then Dartmouth was forced to go ten innings to win.

The Petrels bunched hits in the third and fourth innings for both teams, and it looked like victory until a pair of Dartmouth hits with two out in the ninth knotted the count. The game was a particularly tough one for the Peachtree road tossers to lose in view of the fact that they dropped their last combat to Georgia after a 10-inning struggle.

Carver and Hugh Buchanan staged a pretty duel all the way, with the visiting chucker having a shade the best of things, letting the Atlantans down with five hits, while his mates picked up nine.

The Petrels registered in the third when Lindsey was safe on an error, went to second on a sacrifice and counted on a pair of infield outs.

The other Oglethorpe score in the fourth was a result of singles by Chestnut and Shepherd, mixed in with an infield out.

Dartmouth got one back in the sixth, and then laid low until two men were out in the ninth, when El-Bott's single, a walk to McLaughlin, and Carver's hit evened things up.

The winning run came as a result of Fuson's double and Picken's single. Oglethorpe will try again today to break the jinx that Dartmouth apparently holds over them when the teams clash at Hermance field in the last fringes of this year's series.

Cruickshank Wins Pinehurst Meet

Pinehurst, N. C., April 2.—(AP)—Bobby Cruickshank, of New York, today won the United North and South open golf championship here when he led the field in medal play at the end of the 72 holes with a score of 298.

Cruickshank's victory, however, was not an easy one, for only one stroke separated him from Arthur Yates, Rochester, McDonald Smith, New York, and Thomas Herron, Jr., who strove desperately to overtake the New Yorker this afternoon.

The winner faltered at the start of the final round when he required 40 to go out but a sensational comeback with 34 won the title for him.

Peps and Boethiens Open Season Today

The Pep class of the Baptist Tabernacle will open the 1936 baseball season this afternoon at Almand park when they meet the Boethien team of Capitol View.

Guy Cantrell, manager of Boethien, always presents a strong line up and can be expected to put up a hard fight. He has with him a number of stars familiar to local fans.

The lineup of the Peps will be with few exceptions the same as last year.

BULLDOGS WIN OVER CRIMSON BY 11-8 COUNT

BY MARCUS BRYANT.

Athens, Ga., April 2.—(Special).—Both Georgia and Alabama furnished a varied and collective hitting attack here this afternoon, the Bulldogs winning, 11 to 8, in the first of a two-game series. A total of 32 hits were garnered by the two teams, featuring the game, with the Crimson holding the edge in this department.

Either Jack Waller or "Lefty" Stewart will draw the Bulldog twirling assignment tomorrow, with Hutto opposing for the Crimson.

Tubbs was forced to retire today after one and one-third innings of duty, during which his offerings were smashed for 6 runs and 5 hits by the Bulldogs, including a homer and three doubles.

Lewis relieved Tubbs, and though he fared better, surrendered 9 hits, two of which were for extra bases. He was unusually wild, walking six men.

"Stinky" Kain performed from the slab for the Bulldogs and was edged hard, the runners driving out 18 hits off his delivery. His worst inning was the fourth, when 5 runs resulted from 7 hits, including a triple, a brace of doubles, and 4 singles. Barnes poked out a homer in the ninth, scoring one runner ahead of him. Other surrendered hits were kept well-scattered and Kain was aided by spectacular play of his mates.

"Buck" Flowers, playing his first full game under Red and Black colors in right field, starred with the willow, smashing out a homer, a double and a single in four attempts.

Harry Middlebrooks, moved to lead-off position, along with "Skeet" Johnson, Georgia receiver, contributed a trio of knocks to the Bulldog cause, with Shiver and Satlof successful on the line.

A game showed the Red and Black at its greatest hitting strength of the year. Alabama likewise boasted an array of hitting talent, including Barnes, Sewell, Moore and Crews.

This quartet boosted three hits off Kain's slants, Barnes' four-base clout going into the right field bleachers. Captain Nolan Richardson enjoyed a large day afield, handling six chances and figuring in a double play.

Kain's pulling down of Rosenfeld's liner, the runner of the pitcher's box, and Connaster's catch of Middlebrooks' foul were other fielding features.

SOUTHEASTERN LEAGUE NAMES FOUR UMPIRES

Montgomery, Ala., April 2.—(AP)—Appointment of four umpires for the Southeastern league and setting of April 26 as the opening date were announced here today by Cliff Green, president of the league.

The four umpires named are D. J. O'Brien, of Cleveland, Ohio; Lou Kearney, of Raleigh, N. C.; W. R. Harrell, of Atlanta, Ga.; and James Drohan, of Kewanee, Ill. Two more are to be announced soon, completing the roster.

Robbie Also Is Optimist

Benign calm and good will towards the weary again radiates from Wilbert Robinson. Milton Stock has signed his contract and Johnny Butler is on the road to health—sufficient cause for the restoration of the smile in the clubhouse of your Uncle Wilbert.

Robinson was beset with worries over his infield before the recalcitrant Stock came into the fold and it seemed that Butler might be unable to play for some time. But with Milton back in the lineup at second base and indications that Johnny will be able to rejoin the Robins when they reach home April 10, the Brooklyn inner defense will not resemble the sieve that it threatened to look like a few days ago.

Stock will play second base, and with Rabbit Maranville apparently as spry as ever, will form an efficient second base combination. Jacques Fournier is one of the best first basemen in the league. Even if Butler is able to play with the start of the championship season there is some doubt that he will be worth the extravagant price that Brooklyn is said to have paid Minneapolis for him.

Bill Marriott, acquired from the Braves in a deal last winter, is a very good third baseman.

Zach Wheat, imbued with perennial work and grace, is one of the greatest outfielders in baseball. Whitey Fournier seems to have taken a new lease on life with a change of uniform and is doing well in center field, but Cox and Felix probably will be the other two regular gardeners.

Your Uncle Wilbert is vastly pleased with his pitching staff, headed by the superb "Daddy" Vance, the speed ball artist. Grimes appears to be in excellent condition and Burleigh Grimes, when right, is a smart chucker, as we are led to believe the rusties would say. Jess Petty, Jess Barnes and Doug McWeeny are experienced, capable fingers.

George Boehler, up for another trial, Rube Elhardt and Bob McGraw should furnish some aid to the very capable quintet of regular boxmen. Sterlin Strider, who isn't an underdog kid, has shown enough to warrant his retention and use in a relief capacity.

Hank Deberry and Mickey O'Neil handle the pitchers satisfactorily and are efficient, mechanical catchers.

TO BE BRIDE OR NOT TO BE, TENNIS STAR QUOTED ON BOTH SIDES OF AFFAIR IS SUZANNE'S QUESTION

Paris, April 2.—(AP)—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, woman tennis champion of the world, is engaged to be married. Her fiancé is Jacques Brindejones Offenbach, and he is not a tennis player, or even a fan, but a poet, and described as one of the best of the younger generation. He is a grandson of the famous composer Offenbach, whose "Tales of Hoffman" is an operatic classic.

While the marriage will take place at an early date it is not definitely known whether it will be before or after the Wimbledon tournament, but it is understood Mlle. Lenglen's entry in that tournament will stand in any case. Likewise it has not yet been decided whether she will continue to play tournament tennis after her marriage or definitely retire from the game. The couple expect to make their home in Paris.

The news surprised the tennis world: at first it was received with incredulity, for it has often been reported that Suzanne was engaged, only to be denied.

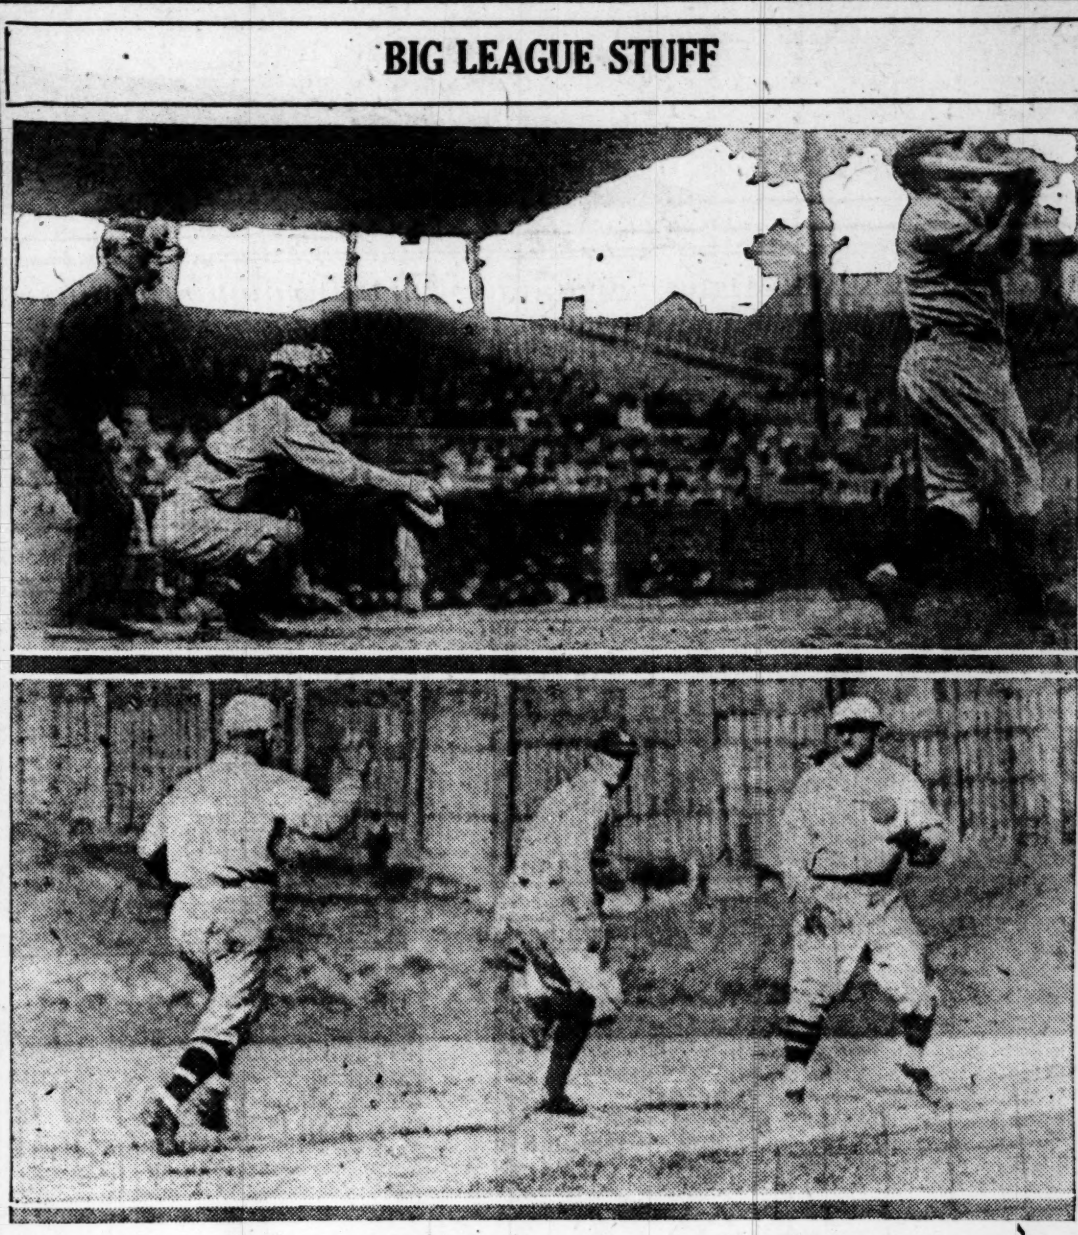

Suzanne and Jacques have known each other four years, but as he rarely visited the tennis courts, he was a frequent visitor, however, to the Lenglen home. He encouraged Suzanne in her literary efforts and helped launch her as a novelist. But they kept the secret of their affection well, only making it known when certain obstacles which stood in the way of their marriage were removed.

"IT'S THE BUNK," SAYS SUZANNE.

Paris, April 2.—(United News).—Suzanne Lenglen denied that she was engaged to marry Jacques Brindejones Offenbach in a telephone conversation with the United News from Cannes Friday night.

"That," said Suzanne, "is the bunk. It makes me laugh."

Widely published dispatches from Paris Friday reporting the "love match" and engagement of the women's tennis champion to Offenbach, a newspaperman, poet and grandson of Jacques Offenbach, the composer.

HUGGINS LIKES HIS TEAM NO DOUBT ABOUT HITTING

YANKEE MANAGER DISCUSSES CHANCES

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The New York Yankees may not play in the world's series next fall, but they will furnish the American league team that does a "whole lot of better," Miller Huggins, their manager, said here Friday.

Huggins, adding that his infield will have developed coordination in defensive play.

"I have no doubt about the offensive. All those boys can hit," Huggins said. "I am a great believer in my infield is going to do."

Huggins believes that Gehrig at first, Lazzeri at second, and Koenig at short will produce. Each is 21 years old and coming to experience.

Two new pitchers are pleasing to the Yankee manager. Thomas, obtained from Toronto, International league, has been showing up well and probably will be a regular in the box during the coming season. McQuaid, from the St. Paul club of the American association, has major league possibilities.

Babe Ruth is in good shape and hitting. Huggins said that Ruth had been behaving himself, working hard, and was in better shape for playing than at any time since he came to the Yankees.

The Yankee outfield is composed of veterans, unless injuries sneak into camp, Huggins has no worries about the outer gardeners.

TEX HAS EDGE IN ARGUMENT OVER HEAVIES

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Tex Rickard, with the Yankee stadium or Boyle's Thirty Acres as available arenas for his proposed Dempsey-Tunney match, has played his heavyweights so skillfully that the state athletic commission now must change front or see a million dollar title fight go to rival Jersey territory, boxing observers asserted today.

The promoter's latest maneuvers in gaining virtually monopolistic control of the heavyweight situation for 1936 have put the commission in a perplexing, if not embarrassing position, it was pointed out.

As matters now stand, the New York solons have put their foot down firmly on Dempsey-Tunney negotiations and clung consistently to their demand that Harry Wills, giant negro contender, be given first call for a title bout with Dempsey.

On two occasions Rickard and his matchmaker, Jess McMahon, have been interrogated without tangible results. The promoter's answer, if it is to be read accurately, has been to push his negotiations for the Dempsey-Tunney fracas without taking Wills into consideration. Without putting it into so many words Rickard has said he does not care to promote a Dempsey-Wills encounter, this is done at any rate. And by having arenas available in rival states, either capable of handling a million dollar attraction, critics see the promoter in an advantageous position.

Within the past few weeks occasional suggestions have been made that the commission may seek a loophole which would enable it to eliminate Wills from the picture temporarily and pave the way for Tunney and Dempsey to meet in this state. Considerable political pressure, it has been said, is being exerted toward this end. At the same time, it is pointed out, any alteration of the commission's stand in expounding Wills' title challenge would leave it conspicuously open to charges of inconsistency.

Tech Tank Star National Finalist

Annapolis, Md., April 2.—(AP)—Two elimination contests and an epidemic of last-minute withdrawals today reduced contestants for the national individual intercollegiate swimming championships to 30. The finalists, representing 12 colleges and universities will take the water in the naval academy tank tomorrow.

The scrappy today evinced the necessity of elimination tests in five of the seven scheduled events.

Fall of Stanford and O'Brien, of Illinois, will flip from the spring board tomorrow as the leading contenders for the national fancy diving honors.

Among the finalists in the 150-yard back stroke is Hollingsworth, of Georgia Tech.

Fraud Is Charged To Race Officers

Tampa, Fla., April 2.—The end of the racing season only a week off, 40 officials and employees of the West Coast Jockey club, operators of the Tampa Downs track, faced charges Friday of conspiracy to violate the Florida anti-gambling law.

Solicitor General filed information against the group as another move in the legal campaign he has waged since the track was built.

The track is now operating under a supersedeas bond allowed by the state supreme court after injunction proceedings had been brought by Chancy.

Lazerri and Meusel Hit Well To Back Shawkey's Pitching

Babe Ruth Goes Hitless, Fans Twice—Cullop, Gazelle and Paschal Figure in Big League Contest.

BY H. C. HAMILTON.

With Tony Lazzeri and Bob Meusel, both products of the Pacific coast, leading the attack behind midseason pitching by Bob Shawkey and McQuaid, the New York Yankees won their fifth straight game from the Brooklyn Dodgers Friday afternoon at Spiller's park. Jess Barnes and Petty, who did mound duty for the National leaguers, hurled excellently, but the heavy clubs of the American leaguers swung into action at opportune moments.

Shawkey, whose work last season was not up to former years, appeared to be in great condition. He allowed only two hits while he tolled and these came in separate innings.

The family's food is "food for thought"

"Keeping down the grocery bill" is a part of the housewife's job. "Keeping it paid" is a part of her husband's. The daily ordering of groceries is one of the tasks of every housewife—more important than others because the family MUST have food and because "groceries" make up one of the biggest items of expense in the average home.

HERE'S A PLAN YOU MAY HAVE OVERLOOKED—one that will REDUCE your grocery bills, save you money, and help you to get MORE for the money you spend. Thousands of other families are using this plan. Some of them, your friends and neighbors, have smaller bills than yours, and they don't skimp on anything, either. HOW?

Simply by reading the grocery ads in The Constitution they KNOW when, where and what to buy to get the biggest values for the least money.

Close of Lent Terminates Inactivity of Social Life

At 12 o'clock today the period of "sackcloth and ashes" will be terminated and society will revert again to the pre-Lenten gaiety. Parties of all kinds and sorts are scheduled to do honor to brides-elect and among the college set there will be dances of an interesting nature, while for the very young—the belles and beaux of the future—there will be Easter egg hunts.

Among the brides-elect who will be complimented today are Miss Martha Boynton, who will be honored by Mrs. Thomas Hinman at luncheon; Miss Frances White, who will be given a luncheon by Miss Sarah Wimberly; Miss Irma Heath, who will be central figure at the bridge-tee at which Miss Catherine Shield will be hostess; Miss Marguerite Baker, who will be complimented by Miss Fay Hatcher; Miss Jeanette Collins, who will be honored with her groom-to-be, Cleveland Wilcoxon, at the Biltmore by Jack Hickey; Miss Mona Dudley, who will be honored by Mrs. A. L. Winn and Miss Helen Winn.

Among the visitors who will share in the gaieties today at affairs given in their honor, or at the numerous events on the social calendar, are Miss Betty Kress and Miss Dorothy Brown, who will be given a large party at the tea-dance by Mrs. Joseph Moody; Misses Helen Newey, Mary Olive Speer and Betty Bacon, who will be honored by Miss Jane Dillon; Miss Sylvia Kress, who will be complimented by Mrs. Edward Cauthorn.

For the children there will be countless Easter egg hunts. Among those entertaining for them will be Mrs. Robert Redding, who will give a party for her young daughter, Helen.

Many egg hunts given by church circles, etc., will also gather numbers of children.

Coats

At $48

Perhaps you've set your mind upon paying, say $60, $70 or $75 for your Spring coat, but wait 'till you see these; just you WAIT! You'll change your mind and save the difference. Charmees, lorcheens, satins, ottomans and smart sports fabrics, richly embroidered, trimmed in fur or exquisitely plain.

At $38

Here are exact duplicate of coats selling for two or three times their price, copied from Parisian models, with the charm and verve of flares, pleats and swinging capes, with the beauty of furs and fabric. Charmees, lorcheens and satins. Styles for misses and women.

At $22.95

Twill coats that show by their tailoring alone that they're the equal of higher priced ones. Then there are clever sports models to choose from in plaids and mixtures; all late New York styles in a variety that's really unmatchable at the price.

At $14.95

Fine quality twills and graceful little sports coats, more than 25 different styles, all smartly trimmed with fur, contrasting colors and novelty stitching. In soft rose shades, greens, tans, greys, periwinkle, navy, etc. They look like $25 models.

HIGH'S, SECOND FLOOR

Suits

At $8.95

Charming little two-piece Jersey suits for sports wear; one might really say for general daytime wear for the sports costume and its modifications are the very basis of the present mode. They are in a delightful range of new colors, such as meadow green, chartreuse, rose, periwinkle, red, cocoa and tan. Coats slip over the heads.

At $24.95

The simple, boyish model, single or double breasted, dominates the suit mode, and here it is, fine twills and lorcheens, all excellently tailored and lined with quality crepes de chine. You'll be unable to resist their naive charm and youthfulness. Tans, navies and greys.

At $59.50

Definitely smart little suits of charmees, lorcheens, tweeds and novelty fabrics, all of them with matching or contrasting blouses. Beautifully tailored, their linings of heavy silk crepe that sometimes matches blouse. Navy blue, tans, greys and mixtures.

At $97.50

Model suits; just 10 of them; made to sell for very much more, reduced to $97.50. Dressy models adorned with fur or embroidered, and the smartest of the severely tailored type. Suits with the studied smartness that only the master designer knows how to achieve.

Alice in Easterland

She Can Buy a Sweet Silk Dress for $8.98

Crepe de chine, and she'll find one in blue to match her eyes, all fluffy with ruffles. She can buy such adorable printed ones, too, or in the more practical shades tucked, lace or ribbon trimmed. All sizes up to 14 years. Lovely, lovely, and such a little price.

White Confirmation Dresses, $3.98 to $11.85

Mabel and Ada, who will accompany her, must each have white dresses to wear for confirmation, and here are fresh, lovely ones in voile, crepe de chine or Georgette, some tucked, some ruffled, others daintily trimmed in lace and ribbon, medallions, piping and folds.

Cute Tub Frocks, Some With Pantees, $2.98

Some show matching pantees 'neath their wee skirts, and they're made just like Mother would have them—with smart applique, pretty touches of hand embroidery, etc. English prints, broadcloths, cotton charmeuse, sizes 2 to 14 years.

Wee Coats With or Without Capes, $7.98

She'll probably choose one with a cape to match Mother's. Really, it will be a hard matter to decide, there are such marvelous little coats for only $7.98. Solid colors and mixtures, beautifully tailored, some with smart stitching and buttons. Ages 3 to 7 years.

A Perfectly Darling Hat for Only $1.98

One wouldn't imagine $1.98 would buy such really smart little hats, but High's has oodles of 'em, and they're just as becoming as they are smart. Some are of silk and braid, some are of straw and straw and fabric combinations. Pokes and roll brims. All colors.

Easter Egg Party At Howard Matinee For Saturday

The Easter egg party at the junior matinee this week (Saturday) will be the usual big annual event, with a specially fine program, and a present of Easter eggs for every one attending.

Betty Bronson, the heroine of "Peter Pan," will be the attraction in her new film, "The Golden Princess." Betty receives a gold mine all her own, with many interesting events leading up to it.

The serial, "The Fighting Ranger," will be seen again, in some new developments.

Comprising the elaborate program will be dances in charge of Mrs. Charles La Fontaine, "Six Little Maids from Japan," and "Six Little China Boys." Beautiful costumes and scenery will mark this feature, which has been in preparation for a long time.

Mrs. Newton C. Wing, matinee chairman, will be assisted in the gift of the Easter eggs and rabbits, which are the gift of the Cox Drug company, next door, by the assistant chairman, Mrs. Charles C. Harding, by the chairman of chaplains, Mrs. John G. Courtney, and her committee of T. F. A. members, and Boy and Girl Scouts. The matinee starts at 9:30, with the ticket office open at 8:45. Everyone is advised to come early to see the performance. Admission is 10 cents.

The chaplains will include Mrs. J. W. Hardwick, Mrs. Robin Adair, Mrs. J. C. Kinsey, Mrs. A. Bell, Mrs. E. Brown, Mrs. William M. Leppard.

Miss Sylvia Kress Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. Jerry K. McCall and Mrs. L. Judson Leary were hostesses Friday at their home on the North Decatur road in Druid Hills at a bridge-teea honoring Miss Sylvia Kress, who arrived Thursday to be their guest.

The invited guests included Miss Sarah Meader, Miss Julia Meader, Miss Dorothy Raine, Miss Boots Walker, Miss Catherine Carlton, Miss Helen Gude, Miss Peggy Gude, Miss Evelyn Branch, Miss Elizabeth Branch, Miss Catherine Norcross, Miss Myra Boynton, Miss Elizabeth Spalding, Miss Caroline Paulin, Miss Alice Carmichael, Miss Cornelia Orme, Miss Laura Hoke, Miss Frances Barnett, Miss Margaret Arnold, Miss Jane Tway, Miss Adeline Winston, Miss Helen Howard, Miss Mary Meador Goldsmith, Miss Josephine Richardson, Miss Josephine Clarke, Miss Elizabeth Thompson, Miss Frances Floyd, Miss Vera Kamper, Miss Marian Bryan and others.

This afternoon Mrs. Edward Cuthbert will entertain at the Biltmore tea-dance, complimenting her niece, Miss Kress.

Sunday afternoon Mrs. E. H. Daniel, an aunt of Miss Kress, will entertain Miss Kress at an informal tea, inviting the members of the family.

Miss Kress will return to Asheville, N. C., Monday to resume her studies at St. Genevieve's.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY The Siege of Yorktown.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

GENERAL WASHINGTON WAS WELL ON HIS WAY TO VIRGINIA TO ATTACK CORNWALLIS BEFORE CLINTON, THE BRITISH COMMANDER AT NEW YORK, DISCOVERED HIS REAL INTENTION. THEN IT WAS TOO LATE FOR CLINTON TO INTERFERE.

REACHING YORK RIVER, WASHINGTON FOUND LAFAYETTE WAITING TO JOIN HIM, AND THE FRENCH FLEET OF DE GRASSE PATROLLING THE CHESAPEAKE TO PREVENT BRITISH WARSHIPS FROM COMING TO THE AID OF YORKTOWN. THE AMERICAN LEADER AT ONCE MASSED HIS TROOPS TO CRUSH CORNWALLIS.

© 1925 BY THE NICHOLS NEWSPAPER SYNDICATE.

REINFORCEMENTS OF FRENCH AND AMERICAN TROOPS BROUGHT THE NUMBER OF WASHINGTON'S ARMY TO 16,000 MEN. OF THESE 7,000 WERE FRENCH.

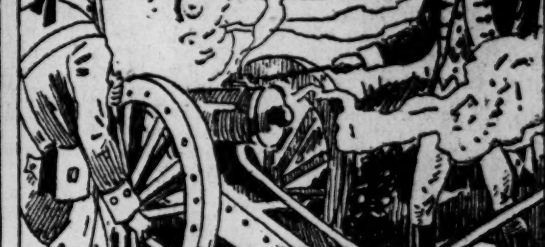

CORNWALLIS, WITH 7,000 REDCOATS, FOUND HIMSELF HEEMED IN AT YORKTOWN BY THE AMERICAN LAND FORCES AND FRENCH FLEET, AND PREPARED TO MAKE HIS LAST STAND. ON SEPTEMBER 30, 1781, THE AMERICANS BEGAN TO THROW UP EARTHWORKS AROUND THE TOWN.

POTENTATE BERGER ENTERTAINED HERE

Yanrab Shrine Friday were honored with an official visit to the local temple by Imperial Potentate James C. Burger, of El Jebel temple, Denver, Col. Mr. and Mrs. Burger will leave this morning for Knoxville, Tenn., to attend a committee meeting of Shrines in conference on revision of Shrine laws and to hear a report of the jurisprudence committee.

The closing entertainment extended the Shrine official was a dinner and reception Friday night at the Capital City club. Dinner was served at 8:30 o'clock and was followed by the reception. All members of the Shrine and their wives were invited. A special musical program was given by the Yanrab Chanters.

Due to the visit being on Good Friday, entertainment features were simple. Mr. and Mrs. Burger arrived early Friday morning on a special car from Greenville, S. C., and were met by a party of Shrines. A trip to points of interest was made by a party including Potentate and Mrs. Thomas C. Law, of Yanrab temple, Stone Mountain, the Scottish Rites Crippled Children's hospital and other places of interest were visited. A luncheon at the Druid Hills Golf club followed the trip.

In the afternoon, Mr. Burger played a round of golf over the Druid Hills course. Nobles George Watts, William A. Fuller and Edward H. Barnes, of Yanrab temple, completed the four-some. Mr. and Mrs. Burger are at the Biltmore hotel during their visit to Atlanta.

DENIAL AT QUITMAN THAT SEABOARD HAS ACQUIRED RAILWAY

Quitman, Ga., April 2.—(Special.) It was officially denied here today at the general offices of the South Georgia Railway company that the Seaboard Air Line railroad has either leased or purchased the South Georgia railway, a short line running from Adel, Ga., through Quitman to Perry and Hampton Springs, Fla., a distance of more than 80 miles. The denial comes on the heels of announcement last night that the Seaboard has leased the railroad.

TRAINLOADS OFF TO SEE AZALEAS IN THEIR GLORY

Eight Pullman cars filled with Atlantans left the city Friday night at 8 o'clock for Charleston, S. C., on the special Georgia railroad train, to view the beautiful Middleton and Magnolia gardens which have been open to the public for the past week, according to information from officials of the Georgia railroad.

Another special train will leave Atlanta tonight at 8 o'clock and round-trip tickets will be good for five days.

Miss Mary Goddard To Be Honored At Sunday Afternoon Tea

BY BEVERLY BURGESS.

On Sunday afternoon at the Goddard home on Oakdale road there will be a very happy and bright gathering of friends to welcome the young daughter of the household home for the Easter holidays.

Mary Goddard, eldest daughter of the John Newton Goddards, has been away all winter at school. Along with many other charming Atlanta girls, she has spent this past year at St. Timothy's in Baltimore.

She arrives today for vacation week of bright Easter time with her Atlanta family. About 100 friends in the college set have been asked to welcome Mary home again.

Katherine Norcross, a lifelong friend of this popular girl, will assist her in receiving.

A bright, attractive figure will Mary be at all of the Easter games.

Mary Lewis as Nedda.

Undoubtedly the personnel of the Metropolitan cast this evening is a more direct appeal to all southerners than ever before.

Another southern girl—Marian Talley already having been noted—were we to hear during opera week. None of this local southern coloring will be lost in Dixie, will it?

Miss Lewis says she is weary of hearing herself referred to a former "Gilded Girl" girl, but one thing is certain therein lies an accepted brand of beauty, so necessary in professional life. Thus we are assured of the young prima donna's love-ness.

And her Metropolitan connection is, guarantee sufficient of her voice being all that could be asked for, so here we are to expect much in the way of fulfilled opera anticipations.

As Nedda in "Pagliacci," the two-act Italian opera, Mary Lewis is to make her first bow ever to an Atlanta audience. The outcome we are assured of from before the beginning. There is little doubt of her unequalled success.

Pagliacci-Mountebanks.

That is what the title means—a troupe of itinerant mountebanks, you know. The scene is laid in Calabria during the Feast of Assumption, there being only five main characters, Nedda, who is wife to Pucciniello, master of the troupe; Tonio, the clown; Beppe, the harlequin, and Silvio, a villager.

The plot consists of a show within a show. The story is peculiarly Italian in its motive and is noted for its brevity, conciseness, ingenuity and swift action, closing in a denouement of great tragic power and effectiveness. As a whole the opera is very tuneful, full of snap and go, and at the same time is intensely dramatic.

The prologue is sung before the curtain by Tonio, which part will be taken by Lawrence Tibbett, another young American singer, who as a great baritone has already won his spurs in opera.

A very beautiful aria in this opera is the cavatina in the second scene, sung by Nedda, and who is there who will ever listen to the passionate outburst of Canio at the close of the first act in "Recitar! Mentre Preso dal Delfino" without all but weeping themselves for the lost Canio, whose singing of this part has been attributed decorated in the center with a tiny white lily. At each place was a beautiful white cake embossed with yellow roses and holding one small lighted candle. Refreshments were served on individual plates, the salad arranged to represent little green nests filled with small eggs on which sat a fluffy yellow chicken. Charlotte artistically modeled completed the beautiful repast. A delightful game of bridge followed. French novelties constituted the prizes.

The guest list was as follows: Miss Ida Thomas, Miss Nesbit LeConte, Miss Elizabeth Kimball, Miss Elvira Howard, Miss Jane Morrow, Miss Margaret Snelling, Miss Elizabeth Potter, Miss Martha Candler, Miss Helen Candler, Miss Charlotte Adams, Miss Eleanor Brumlow, Miss Mary Wilcox, Miss Virginia Dillon and Miss Lillie Holmes Tate.

Pre-Nuptial Parties Given

Miss Will Hawkins.

Among the pre-nuptials to be given in honor of Miss Will Hawkins will be the breakfast at which Miss Ellen Newell will entertain the members of the Hawkins-Thomas bridal party Friday, April 9, at her home, 750 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Spencer Conner, Henry Dunn, Dr. Thomas J. Charlton, John Hawkins, Wynberly DeRenne, Dr. John Hawkins, E. Armonde Hunter, Charles MacLean and Frank S. MacLean, all of Savannah, Ga.

Miss Shedd's Luncheon. Miss Harriett Shedd was hostess at a beautiful luncheon honoring Miss Hawkins Friday at her home.

The guests' places were marked by lovely white cards suggestive of a wedding, and the dainty decorated mints also in white.

Covers were placed for the members of Miss Hawkins' bridal party.

Mrs. Camp Hostess. In the afternoon Mrs. William Marion Camp entertained at a bridge-noon at her home in Ansley Park in compliment to Miss Hawkins.

Guests invited for this occasion were Miss Hawkins, Mrs. Arthur Clarke, Mrs. Cecil Strohm, Miss Bessie Mitchell, Miss Ellen Newell, Miss Ida Sadler, Miss Harriett Shedd, Miss Margaret Stovall, Miss Louise Nelson, Miss Catherine Raine, Miss Edythe Coleman, Miss Lucy Elizabeth Harper, Miss Ethel Hunter, Miss Mary Brown Spalding, Miss Corday Rice, Miss Callie Orme, Mrs. Trenton Tunnell, Mrs. Willis M. COULD NOT PUT ON HER SHOES

Mrs. Daugherty Was so Weak

In a little town of the Middle West, was a discouraged woman. For four months she had been in such poor health that she could not stoop to put on her own shoes. Unable to do her work, unable to go out of doors or enjoy a friendly chat with her neighbors, life seemed dark indeed to Mrs. Daugherty.

Then one day, a booklet was left at her front door. Idly she turned the pages. Soon she was reading with quickened interest. The little booklet was filled with letters from women in conditions similar to hers who had found better health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I began taking the Vegetable Compound," Mrs. Daugherty writes, "and after I took the third bottle, I found relief. I am on my eleventh bottle and I don't have that trouble any more, and feel like a different woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to everyone I see who has trouble like mine. I am willing to answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. E. DAUGHERTY, 1398 Orchard Ave., Muscatine, Iowa.

Decatur Bride-Elect Honored at Lovely Tea.

Mrs. Allen Hollinshead was hostess at a beautiful tea Friday afternoon at the home of her mother on Candler street, in Decatur, in honor of Miss Irma Heath, a popular bride-elect of next Wednesday.

Quantities of daffodils, peach blossoms, spiraea and ageratum gracefully arranged in silver baskets and bowls graced the home.

Little Nell Scott Earhman, wearing a dainty pink chiffon frock, received the cards.

Mrs. D. P. McGeachy and Mrs. M. L. Mack assisted in entertaining.

Mrs. Henry Earhman presided over the tea table, which was lovely with its cloth of Italian cutwork and centerpiece of pastel-colored spring flowers.

Miss Nell Candler and Mrs. Hugh Burgess assisted in serving.

Miss Irma Heath, the honor guest, was lovely in orchid chiffon.

Mrs. Hollinshead wore rose crepe Roming over silver cloth, beaded in crystals.

Mrs. J. B. Mack and Miss Louisa Thornley also assisted in entertaining.

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.
CELIA BREAKS DOWN.

Celia glanced up at Hilary, who was watching her with those kind, cool eyes of his, and remembering the blazing glare of Padraic's eyes close, close to hers, she shivered again.

"Still chilly?" asked Hilary, with concern. "That means five grains of quinine before you go to bed, Serenity."

"I am not serene," said Celia, whose cheeks had begun to glow. "I was only shivering at something I thought of."

"Something as unpleasant as all that?"

"I can't tell whether it was pleasant or unpleasant," hesitated Celia. She thought Hilary looked at her a little curiously, and put up the backs of both hands to her cheeks.

"It's the champagne, I think," she went on. "Does it make one's face burn?"

"Not necessarily," said Hilary. "But thoughts do . . . sometimes."

"It was my thoughts then," murmured Celia.

"What thoughts can an enchanted white kitten have to make its face burn?" asked Hilary, a little mockingly she considered. A sudden flare shot up in her. She felt as a conscious torch might when suddenly lighted.

That was it—that was what kept her from being as fond of Hilary as she might be. He mocked at her too much, treated her too lightly—just as if she were really a white kitten, a tolerated household pet. She was nobody's pet, but a woman, and a woman whom a man loved, madly, desperately. Padraic's eyes had certainly looked mad, his words and acts had seemed desperate. . . . "An enchanted white kitten!" . . . It was too much.

She took firm hold of the edge of the table and gazed at Hilary with fixed, greenish eyes growing black from the dilating pupils.

"I must tell you," she said in a clear, hard voice, "that Padraic O'Shea loves me. He wishes me to get a divorce from you and marry him."

He gathered her in his arms exactly as though she were the kitten to which she so resented being likened—

Hilary felt much as if the white kitten, turned into a white tiger, had clawed him in the face.

This was certainly a brand new Celia that the champagne had released. But it was his fault entirely, in filling her glass that second time. Of course it had affected the poor child, who was unused to drinking wine of any sort.

He mustn't show her that he was hurt, or even startled. So with this worthy determination, making his voice as clear and almost as hard as hers, he replied:

"Of course, I know already that O'Shea is in love with you. I'm very glad, though, that you've told me about it yourself."

Some imp as malicious as that in the champagne made him add . . . "at last."

"Are you reproaching me for not telling you before I knew it myself?" asked the new Celia, with such concentrated bitterness that he winced.

She noticed this, and was delighted. It was so fiercely agreeable to know that she had the power to make him wince. She would do it again as soon as he gave her the chance. He gave her an excellent chance the next minute, for, in spite of himself, her hard stare and bitter voice angered as well as hurt him. He always drew his words slightly when he was angry, and he drew them now.

"Are you really asking me to believe that after all these weeks of constant companionship with this young man you only found out tonight that he loves you?"

"Ah, yes," returned Celia, drawing also, and with a most unpleasant little smile, "no wonder you are angry. . . . I've brought into your home a criminal . . . one who has committed the execrable crime of being a young man!"

Hilary was as transfixed as the man in Stevenson's story when the bottle imp itself flicked out of the bottle, paralyzing them by its mere appearance. For an instant he felt as though Celia had become literally possessed of a devil. Then common sense sobered him.

"You are mistaken," he said, gently now, if somewhat coldly, and his words ranged themselves in formal stiffness, try as he would to speak naturally. "If you will think back you will realize that I've been always anxious for you to fulfill your life, in the only normal way possible—by marriage with a man who loves you and whom you love. That O'Shea is young, I find very fortunate. If his other qualities are as fine as that one, you will be very happy."

But Celia could not "think back." All was darkness behind her, and only that glare of unreasoning wrath, like the glare from the headlight of an express engine, illumined the straight, ironclad way before her.

For some reason, hidden even from herself, she wished more than anything in the world to hurt Hilary, and to keep on hurting him more and more.

That he had recovered his self-control and gentle, cool tone only frenzied her. She began to tremble, holding the edge of the little table tighter and tighter, until it too trembled and the glasses on it tinkled together.

"I have told you," she said, biting her words, "that I don't know whether I love him or not." (And she really thought she had told him this.) "I have told you that—and yet you speak of my marriage to him as if it were already fixed. . . . I've long feared I was a burden to you . . . a bore . . . an incumbrance. . . . Now I know it. Thank you for letting me know. . . . Whether I love him or not," she stumbled on, her words tripping each other, "whether I don't love him at all, it will be better for me to go with him . . . for he, at least, loves me . . . than to stay and . . . and 'cumber the ground' of . . . of one who . . . who stooped to save a kitten . . . a blind kitten from drowning . . . not because of the kitten . . . O' no! but because he's so kind—"

She spat the word at him exactly as a kitten spits . . . "so kind . . . and . . . hypocritical."

Hilary reached her in a stride and took her hands firmly in his, though she fought him a little.

"Don't go on, Celia," he said. "You'll have forgotten all this tomorrow; you should be in bed. Come with me. I'll take you up and call Donovan."

"I'll never forget . . . never . . . never," said Celia, still struggling in his light but firm grasp, though more feebly now. "How could I forget how you wished to throw me at the first man who ever . . . who ever . . ."

Even in her muddled, excited state her strong, subconscious instinct kept her from saying, "who ever loved me."

And suddenly, she who could never cry when she wanted to, and who would have given worlds now not to cry, burst into bitter sobbing.

"God knows," he thought, "what that philandering chap has put her through this evening."

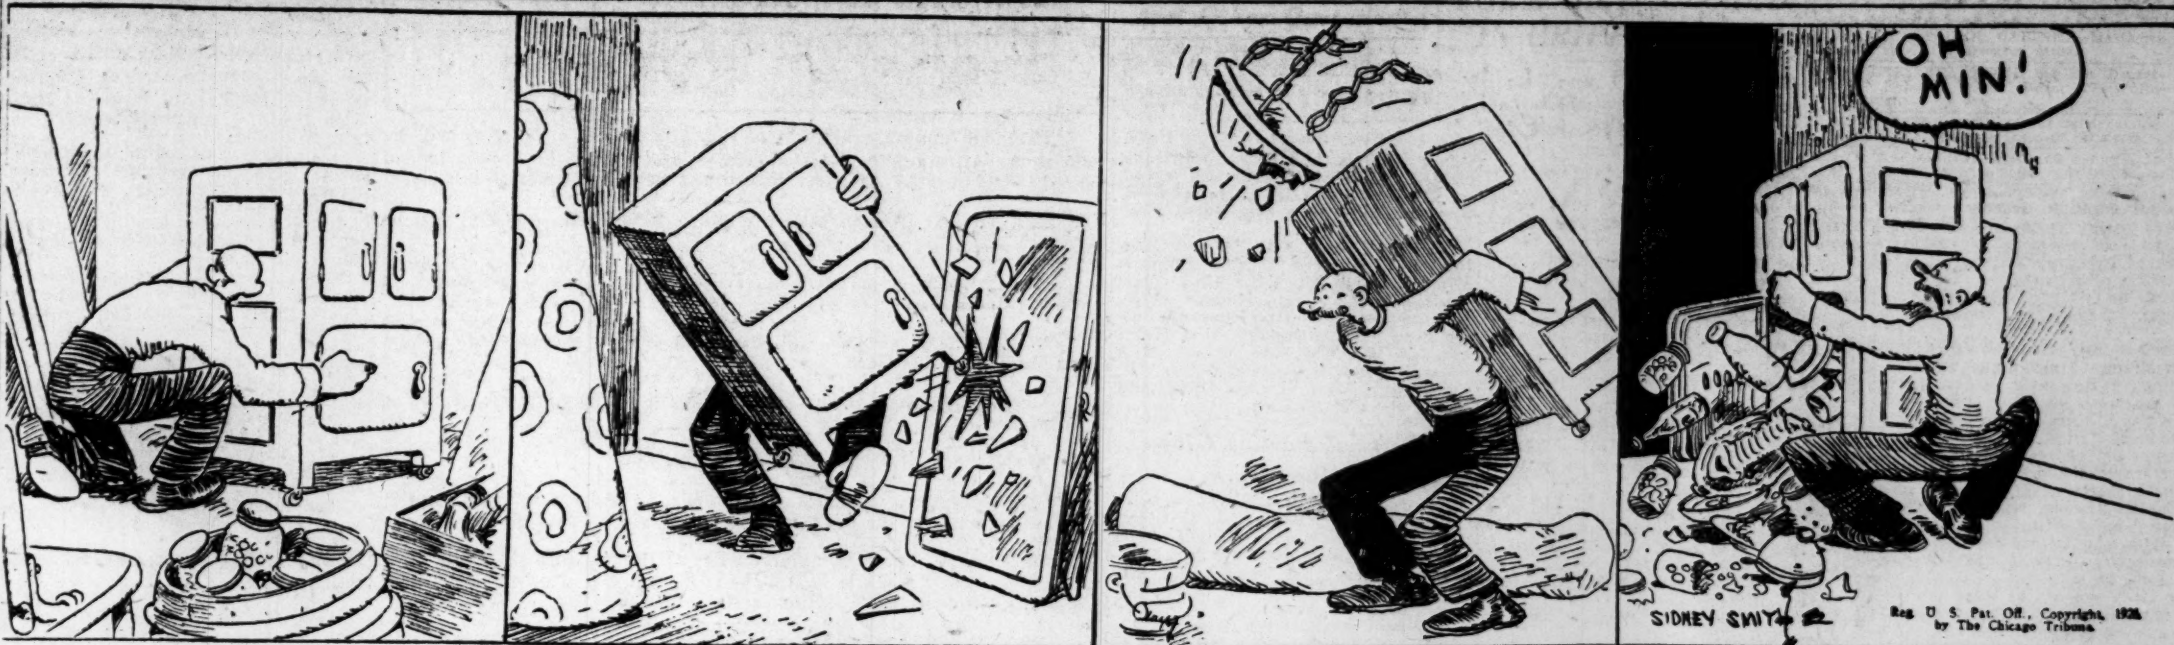

He gathered her in his arms exactly as though she were the kitten to which she so resented being likened—a large kitten and very heavy in her throes of helpless weeping.

"There . . . there . . . there," he said, "as Donovan used to say in nursery days, 'Have a good cry. You'll feel better, much better for it.'"

He dragged her still sobbing convulsively up the stairs and laid her on her bed where she rolled over, pulling the pillows above her head as though, like a stricken ostrich, she would hide from him and the whole world.

Wealthy Woman Has Son Arrested As Jewel Thief

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, April 2.—A wealthy mother as a desperate resort had her unmanageable son locked up in the Tombs prison today as a burglar. The mother, Mrs. Lillian Anderson Stuart, 52, wife of a wealthy banker, appeared in West Side court and charged her son with stealing $1,000 worth of her jewelry and clothing.

The son, Robert Stuart, 19, was held away to a prison cell and his mother left him there. She did not offer to hold the $2,000 bail in which he was held after waiving examination.

In a modest up-town apartment, meanwhile, was Mrs. Robert Stuart. She became Mrs. Robert Stuart on March 20, nine hours after she first laid eyes on the reckless, charming youth.

She is 25 years old and the mother of a little girl who bears the name of Dorothy Marsh.

She has not seen her young husband since he left her mother's apartment at 2882 Broadway, Thursday afternoon, with little Dorothy. He took the child to see his mother, claiming it was his own and hoping to win her approval of his sudden marriage. He did not take his wife. And he did not come back.

He was arrested. Young Stuart said he went to Atlanta where he riotously spent $700

Fulton High Players Warmly Received By Great Audience

With more than 1,200 people packing the auditorium of the new school building, singers and dancers of Fulton High school scored such a success in their vaudeville extravaganza Friday night for the school athletic fund that plans to reproduce the show before the grandstand at Lakewood park on April 30, where ample seating capacity would be assured for the crowd, were announced after the performance.

A series of living pictures in which the prettiest girls of the school represented the old Hawaii, Ireland, Spain, the old south and primitive America in glimpses within a lighted frame while appropriate music was played and sung behind the scenes, took the audience by storm and drew encore after encore. A series of graceful ballets, climaxed by the "Dance of the Flowers," and a blackface minstrel featuring a male quartet were other high points in the performance.

Girls in the "musical pictures" were Lois McDonald, Helen Roach, Alice Moore Warren, Ruth Akin, Allen Rogers, Lillian Lichtenwalter, Iona Antelsson, J. B. Dodson, Raymond Cooley, Roy Patton, Earl Fuller and Elvin Grant were singers in the minstrel. A one-act melodrama opened the program.

Preparations for the second production are to begin next week with a view to improving it before the appearance before the larger audience at Lakewood.

HARRY JACOBS SENT BACK TO NEW YORK STATE FOR TRIAL

St. Louis, April 2.—(AP)—Speeding across a Mississippi river bridge in a taxicab to avoid extradition difficulties, officers today placed Harry Ludwig, alleged swindler, on a train at East St. Louis, Ill., to take him to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where he is wanted for jumping a $10,000 bond last July.

Ludwig, who was arrested last Friday because he answered the description of a fugitive with the appetite of three ordinary men, is wanted for alleged frauds at New York City, Scranton, Pa., and other places.

Upon his arraignment in criminal court this morning, Judge Gaylor turned the prisoner over to Police Captain Harry S. Cole, of Scranton, and Sidney G. Hartnett, representing the Columbia Casualty company, which was on the Poughkeepsie bond. Reports that Ludwig's attorney planned to seek his release by habeas corpus proceedings inspired the officers to haste in leaving with the prisoner.

Despite Ludwig's denials, Hartnett and Cole identified him as Harry Jacobs, a notorious swindler, who has used the aliases of Teller, Lewis and "Colonel Joseph F. Green of the Bavarian army." Ludwig denied he was the man sought.

They declared Jacobs had defrauded Scranton merchants of $15,000, and the $10,000 life savings of a 73-year-old woman in Boston, and had gained possession of the property of a widow in New York worth about $50,000, gave her worthless drafts in exchange and sold the property for $18,000. She killed herself when she learned the drafts were worthless, they added.

Montezuma Citizens Protest Any Change In Prohibition Law

Montezuma, Ga., April 2.—(Special.)—At a meeting held at the Methodist church here a committee was instructed by a unanimous vote of the congregation to write to Senators W. F. George and W. J. Harris and Congressmen Charles F. Crisp, urging them to use their influence against any modification of the present liquor law and especially to the amendment of the constitution of the United States.

This action was taken following agitation of possible modification of the eighteenth amendment and it is the wish of the church to express its opposition to it.

Montezuma, Ga., April 2.—(Special.)—At a meeting held at the Methodist church here a committee was instructed by a unanimous vote of the congregation to write to Senators W. F. George and W. J. Harris and Congressmen Charles F. Crisp, urging them to use their influence against any modification of the present liquor law and especially to the amendment of the constitution of the United States.

This action was taken following agitation of possible modification of the eighteenth amendment and it is the wish of the church to express its opposition to it.

Detention Home Ends Adventure Of Boys' Tramp

Hopes for adventure that once thrilled 14-year-old Albert Lee Cain and Frank Bradley, his 13-year-old chum, and made them leave home in Chattanooga, Tenn., to tramp their way to Atlanta, were considerably dampened Friday night as they slumbered on beds in the wards of the juvenile detention home on Central avenue, where they are being held for their parents.

Both youths were taken into custody as they strolled the streets about 3 o'clock Friday morning. Worn out, hungry and cold, they seemed happy at the chance to rest.

Cain lived at 513 McCollie avenue, while Bradley, he said, lived at 118 East Eighth street. Bradley was slumbering so soundly he could not be awakened to talk.

Cain, as the spokesman for the two, stated that they had no special reason for leaving—"just wanted to visit Atlanta. We only intended to be gone two or three days," he said.

They started from Chattanooga on foot. "Several motorists were kind to us and gave us lots of lifts," Cain stated. At night, when their weary feet would refuse to toddle further, they would step a few feet from the public highway for a nap in the grass. Cain stated, "Gee! it's good to have a bed to sleep on again," he added.

HUGE CALIFORNIA OIL PURCHASE MADE BY TEXAS COMPANY

Los Angeles, April 2.—(AP)—The Los Angeles Examiner says that the Texas company, of Houston, Texas, one of the largest independent oil companies in the United States, has completed negotiations for purchase and control of the California Petroleum corporation of Los Angeles.

R. L. Peeler, president of California Petroleum, is quoted as saying in connection with the deal will come from the board of directors and probably will be transmitted through Blair & Co., Inc., of New York.

California newspapers understand that the deal was based on approximately $43,500 a share for the California company.

California Petroleum is a holding company owning a number of concerns in this state.

PERUVIAN PREFERS 30-DAY JAIL TERM TO PAYING FINE

Washington, April 2.—(AP)—Suspecting foul play, friends of Marcel Cerna, a Peruvian employed by the Pan-American union, who has been missing nearly a month, called on the police yesterday to help search for him. His belongings were in his room, cablegrams had come for him and been returned. No trace of him could be found.

Today, however, it was learned he has been spending a peaceful month at the Occoquan, Va., jail. Arrested March 18 on a charge of vagrancy, he was given the choice of paying a fine of $150 or spending 30 days in jail, and he chose the latter.
